Lombardi, A Football Legend, Dead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Coach Vince Lombardi, pro football's molder of championship teams, died today of cancer at Georgetown University Hospital.

Death came at 7:12 a. m. EDT.

The 57-year-old Lombardi was head coach and executive vice president of the Washington Redskins at the time of his death. Prior to taking charge of the Redskins in 1969, the gruff, taskmaster of a coach had risen to fame by building a championship dynasty for the Green Bay Packers in his first head coaching job.

In nine seasons at Green Bay he won five National Football League championships and two Super Bowl contests against rival American Football League teams.

Lombardi, after bringing Washington its first winning team (7-5-2) in 14 years in the 1969 season, was first hospitalized on June 25 with a stomach ailment.

Two days later, he underwent major surgery in which two feet of his colon was removed when a tumor was discovered. Lombardi left the hospital in early July, intending to take up the head coaching reins again.

But on July 27, he re-entered the hospital and a second operation of an undisclosed nature was performed. Redskin officials, at the request of Lombardi's family, declined to make public either his condition or the nature of his illness.

In Lombardi's absence, assistant Bill Austin was designated "interim head coach" of the Redskins.

Lombardi is survived by his a son, Vincent H. Lombardi, and a daughter, Mrs. Susan Bickhem of Chicago.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lombardi of Brooklyn; two sisters, two brothers and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Lombardi related recently that her husband had overtaxed himself just prior to re-entering the hospital when he attended a meeting of National Football League club owners in New York in July during a deadlocked labor dispute with the pro players.

Lombardi saw his last football game in person two days before going back into the hospital. It was a practice game between the Redskins and the Baltimore Colt rookies in Baltimore.

Even in the final stages of his illness, he watched the first four Washington pre-season games by means of a closed circuit television arrangement set up in his hospital room.

Lombardi was never satisfied with anything but being tops. He once described winning as "not a sometime thing" but "an all-time thing."

"There is no room for second place here," he said while coach of the Green Bay Packers. "There's only one place here and that's first place . . . all second-place is hinky dink."

Mrs. Lombardi authorized a statement Wednesday that her husband was near death from "an extraordinarily virulent form of cancer."

The statement was issued for Mrs. Lombardi at mid-afternoon after Washington newspapers published stories saying the famed coach was on his deathbed. It had been generally understood in Washington that Lombardi was suffering from terminal cancer but newspapers and broadcast stations had not carried such accounts until Wednesday.

Lombardi received at least two telephone calls from President Nixon while in the hospital, and his wife said hundreds of cards and other articles were sent to him from people all over the country.

Mrs. Lombardi took a room across the hall from her husband at the hospital and, as she did during much of his coaching career, stayed at his side during his illness.

Edward Bennett Williams, president of the Washington Redskins who talked Lombardi into ending his one-year retirement (1968) from football after coaching at Green Bay nine seasons, said Lombardi had "a covenant with greatness more than any man I have ever known."

Coach Bill Austin, who directed Washington to a 3-1 record in its first four pre-season games after taking over the head coaching reins from Lombardi, also expressed grief at "a deep, personal loss."

Lombardi's head coaching tenure totaled exacly 10 seasons, and did not start until past middle age (he was 4[illegible] when he became Green Bay coach) but he achieved recognition as the game's top strategist although many others coached longer.

Pro football's commissioner Pete Rozelle, lamented that "those who will miss him most are those who still had yet to play for him, who might have been taught by him, led by him and counseled by him."

Another friend, Sen. Willian Proxmire, D.-Wis., called Lombardi a man who "had a covenant with greatness."

Egypt Truce Violations Bring Warning by U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has sent word to the Soviet Union and Egypt warning them to avoid any further violations of the fragile cease-fire agreement in the Middle East lest they impair the peace talks that have just begun at the United Nations.

Administration sources said instructions were sent Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob D. Beam in Moscow to seek an early meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to convey the American warning, together with conclusive evidence of a limited number of cease-fire violations the United States has detected.

Instructions went to the chief U.S. representative in Cairo, Donald C. Bergus, to seek a conference with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, to give the Egyptians a similar message from the Nixon administration.

The United States, officials said Wednesday, has firm evidence that Egypt and its Soviet supporters have moved several batteries of SAM2 antiaircraft missiles farther into the 31-mile "standstill" zone on the west bank of the Suez Canal. The information was gathered by highflying U2 reconnaissance planes, earth satellites and electronic eavesdropping in the area.

The United States, it was understood, is not urging the Egyptians and Soviets to move the Soviet-built missiles back to their original positions, but is warning them against further cease--fire violations.

Administration officials have tended to discount to some extent the extreme protests from Israel, believing the political situation was not as serious as some sources reported.

The United States, while acknowledging that now it has detected on its own some violations of the "standstill," contends these have not altered the strategic balance in the area and should not be permitted to interfere with continuation of the talks at the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the United States is sending Israel more sophisticated military equipment in an effort to bolster the confidence of the Tel Aviv government.

Israel may decide today to suspend Middle East peace talks unless Egypt withdraws Soviet-made missiles it moved into the Suez Canal cease-fire zone after the American-backed truce, political sources in Jerusalem reported.

The Israel cabinet, meeting today as the ministerial committee on security affairs, also will consider possible military action against the SAM2 and SAM3 missiles.

Israel has taken the attitude the movement of the missiles has upset the balance of power in the Middle East and a full-scale battle in the cabinet developed on what action to take. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has been leading the hawks, demanding the missiles be withdrawn before Israel will return to the negotiating table at the United Nations in New York. He apparently is backed by a majority of the cabinet, including Premier Golda Meir, but Mrs. Mier has been seeking some form of compromise so as not to split the government.

UCCC Faculty Assn. Demands Trustees Resign

By LYNN MULVANEY

STONE RIDGE

The resignation of the entire Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College has been "demanded" today by the Faculty Association of UCCC, which calls recent actions of the board with regard to salary negotiations neither "legally or morally appropriate."

The Faculty Association, in an "open letter" to the public as well as the UCCC Board of Trustees states that the resignation of the trustees is being sought as the result of an association meeting last Monday at which the group, with 90 per cent of its membership present, voted "unanimous save one" to take such action.

Specifically the Faculty Association said it "condemns" the Board of Trustees for relinquishing its negotiation powers to the Legislature and for requesting the Legislature to approve a revised budget which retains professional employes selaries at 1969-70 levels.

In summarizing what the Faculty Association refers to as the facts, it states, "You (Board of Trustees) behaved in such a manner that you:

"● Reneged on moral and legal commitments made to the faculty and in so doing severely compromised morality and justice.

"● Failed to consult with your faculty before unilaterally disposing if an agreement honorably achieved through collective negotiation, thus becoming a party to an unfair labor practice.

"● Acquiesced to political pressure, thus compromising your mandate to oversee the operation of the college.

"● Implicitly supported unfounded allegations held by some that the agreement was the result of collusion among the deans of faculty and administration, trustees, faculty and a fact finder appointed by the state and,

"● Irreparably impaired your ability to communicate and to establish a harmonious working relationship with the faculty.

"These events," the Association said, "then lead us to conclude that as a group you are incapable of complying with the degree of integrity and responsibility demanded of your position."

Speaking for the association were Richard C. Smith, president; Neil E. Ryder, vice president, and Louis Cesaratto, member of the negotiating committee.

The Association, which has already filed charges of unfair labor practices with the State Employe Relations Board, stated further that, "The cavalier, capricious and unilateral manner in which you dismissed the legal and moral commitments made through an agreement mutually reached between the appropriate bodies to the collective negotiations, combined with the actions of the Legislature, subject the faculty to the prospect of 'double jeopardy' by ordering new bargaining talks after an agreement has already been reached. This, in our view, constitutes bad faith bargaining.

"Additionally, your refusal to announce forthrightly that the act of establishing guidelines itself may have constituted an unfair labor practice, establishes you as an accomplice to this act."

Two hearings on the unfair labor practices charge have been called by the state Public Employe Relations Board. The Board of Trustees and the County Legislature as well as the Faculty Association will attend a preliminary hearing at Albany scheduled for Sept. 15 and a formal hearing on Sept. 23.

In the interim, PERB mediator Richard Whelan, who is attempting to settle the dispute, is planning a meeting between the teachers and the legislators.

RAYMOND W. GARRAGHAN

Garraghan Gets Trustee Nomination

KINGSTON

Former Kingston Democratic Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's name has been advanced as a candidate for a seat on the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees to fill a vacancy created by the recent death of Adrian Kaplan.

Significance is lent to the proposal in that it comes from both Democrat as well as Republican members of the Ulster County Legislature which is expected to act in the matter at its Thursday, Sept. 10 meeting in the County Office Building.

The initial proposal suggesting Garraghan surprisingly came from the Republicans. City Legislators Melvin Mones and John Sangaline filed a resolution on Wednesday.

It has been reported that the 11 Democratic legislators, under the leadership of Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7), had planned to propose another candidate for the unsalaried post but upon learning of the GOP's resolution, substituted a new one of their own—naming Garraghan. The Democratic resolution is sponsored by all 11 Democratic legislators, Mabie, City Legislators Orrie Riehl, William C. Davis, William Edelmuth, Andrew T. Gilday, James F. Gilpatric, Gerald P. Gorman and Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 7), George M. Barthel (D-Dist. 10), Richard Thornton, (D-Dist. 1) and Paul Brazier (D-Dist. 1).

In proposing Garraghan's name, Mones, who is Republican City Chairman, said, "I can think of no finer individual to serve in the capacity of trustee. He will be a definite asset to the college and the community."

The Democratic resolution refers to Garraghan as a person of "high competence and ability" and states that his nomination is "in the best interests of the administration of the college."

Although the Legislature does not ordinarily move quite so fast to fill a vacancy created by death, in this instance it is felt that in order to maintain the continuity of the college programs and policies, it is necessary to complete the membership of the the board. At present, the college is experiencing a degree of turmoil over salary negotiations which today resulted in the Faculty Association's calling for the resignation of the entire Board of Trustees.

Downtowners Visit Mayor

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig went downtown last Thursday night to outline developments on the Rondout Recreation Center, and this morning some 40 Downtowners went up to see the mayor in what was originally described as "a March on city hall."

The "march" ended with a meeting between the mayor and several representatives of the downtown contingent, the result of several meetings of the Rondout Advisory Board following Koenig's address on Thursday night.

Apparently, the mild protest that Koenig received when he told the advisory board that the building would have to be built in two stages and could not be named after the late Albert Brown, city police officer and Rondout Neighborhood advisor, grew over the weekend.

The mayor went to New York City on Friday morning to discuss the proposed recreation center with federal officials who are supplying $193,000 of the money. His failure to contact the advisory board on the results of that meeting by Monday caused resentment, according to sources downtown.

According to other reports, the residents feel the building should be named after Brown despite a federal ruling quoted by Koenig that says that no building financed with federal money can be named after an individual. Some of them don't agree on the site for the building, the old Orpheum Theater on Broadway. They feel that the site is too small, that it is only large enough for the first phase of the project (the senior citizen center, day care nursery) and that the site should also include playground facilities.

Koenig told the residents on Thursday that the proposed gymnasium could not be built first as it would service only the youth of the area, not all the residents, as is the purpose of a neighborhood center.

Numerous persons at that Thursday meeting wanted the gymnasium built first, stating that the youth problem was the most serious in Rondout. The area already has a senior citizen meeting room and a day care center operated by the Rondout Community Action Committee. The recreation center on Broadway is considered inadequate for the many teenagers that use it.

Police protection, or rather what the residents consider he lack of police protection, was an important item of discussion both last night where some 35 residents met at 11 Broadway and this morning at the Mayor's office.

"Put it this way," one resident told The Freeman, "We've been lucky that nothing serious has happened down here. But if something does happened, if someone is hurt badly or killed, it could be a very serious situation very quickly."

Other complaints were aired,

Rockefeller at State Farm Dinner

Household Detergent Use Ban Hinted

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Governor Rockefeller hinted that New York State may ban or severely restrict the use of household detergents containing phosphates and other nutrients that produce a health hazard in the state's waters.

Rockefeller told the state farm dinner Wednesday that New York's $1 billion Pure Waters program will provide enough money to clean up waters polluted by municipal and industrial sewage. The governor said, however, that other pollution problems such as mercury contamination, sludge deposits and phosphates from detergents must now be tackled.

Rockefeller continued on an ecological note as he toured the state fair today and spoke at an exhibitor's breakfast. The program was part of governor's day at the fair.

"One of the problems in restoring our waters is to end the excessive growth of plant life which is stimulated by certain chemicals, largely phosphates and nitrates," Rockefeller said. "These chemicals overfeed plant life and this can ultimately destroy a body of water and endangers fish."

Rockefeller said he will "shortly outline a new state effort to prevent and control the discharge of these chemicals which threaten waters with excessive plant growth."

The governor said the total cost of sewage treatment programs under the Pure Waters bond issue would total $4.2 billion—compared with original estimates of $1.7 billion. He said the state's $1 billion program would be sufficient for New York's 30 percent share. The state can no longer use bond issue money to prefinance the federal share, of such projects, he said.

The governor said 363 sewage treatment projects have been built or are under construction as a result of the Pure Waters program.

Gubernatorial candidate Arthur J. Goldberg and other Democratic critics of the governor's program have claimed the $1 billion would not be sufficient to complete the anti-pollution program.

Rockefeller said he would propose measures to:

—"Develop new methods of using the waste heat generated by industrial processes in order to avoid thermal pollution of our waters.

—"End the problem of periodic storm water overflows which afflict many communities having combined storm and sanitary sewer systems.

—"Help hard-pressed communities construct basic sewer systems.

—"Attain maximum removal of contaminants from water wastes to a point that we can re-cycle and re-use our water resources."

"Our supply of water is essentially fixed for all time, while our demands on that supply are growing continually," the governor told the farm delegates.

"If our waters are to serve us for the future, we have to act now to make sure they do."

Goldberg's Prediction Comes True

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur Goldberg's prediction that his entrance at the State Fair might not be announced publicly came true Wednesday night when the Democratic gubernatorial candidate was rebuffed in the wings of the main entertainment stage.

Goldberg said at an afternoon press conference he had been told he "may be introduced" over the fair's public address system but fair officials had not promised it and would not make time available for a short speech.

But the candidate and his entourage showed up at Empire Court, the main outdoor entertainment center, and State Police guards let them through to the stage wings.

A man who identified himself as Ward Beam, the stage manager, came up to Goldberg and asked "What's going on here? Who are you?"

Goldberg and the man talked quietly and the man informed Goldberg he would not be going on stage, would not be introduced over the sound system and would have to leave.

Beam said later he had been directed by the assistant director of agriculture to make sure there were no political speeches from that stage.

Goldberg, visibly angry, asked Beam to apologize for not explaining the situation and using what the white-haired candidate called "civil tones."

A State Police officer said troopers had been told to let the group through because Goldberg's assistants said they had permission to appear.

Then Goldberg said a touch of sarcasm in his voice, "I told the state trooper behind the stage if anybody tries to keep the governor off the stage tomorrow," Governor's Day, "you do your duty and escort him on. He's the representative of the people."

Rockefeller is to attend a breakfast and tour the fair today. It was not known if he would go onto the stage, where Senate Majority Leader Earl Brydges and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr., both Republicans, had stood Tuesday during opening ceremonies.

Mrs. Goldberg told The Associated Press after her husband's rebuff, "I'm more determined than ever to work and defeat that man (Rockefeller) and his billions."

Goldberg earlier had criticized two television networks and the fair administration for what he called unequal treatment of candidates.

He complained at a news conference here that neither NBC or ABC sent newsmen to cover his speech Wednesday at the state AFL-CIO convention in Kiamesha Lake.

"Don't get me wrong. I am not carrying on an Agnew campaign against the networks, but this isn't the right thing to do," he said.

"All three networks plan on covering the governor's speech tomorrow (at the labor meeting)," Goldberg added, saying that he even had a plane for the broadcasters' use if lack of time was their reason for non-coverage.

He said Mrs. Goldberg had been introduced at the fair, but Republican women had been given time to list the advances of 12 years of the Rockefeller administration.

Endorsement of Rocky Expected

The New York State AFL-CIO was expected to break precedent today and endorse a Republican for governor.

Governor Rockefeller, whose massive building programs for highways, state university, and state offices has already won him considerable labor support, has been backed by the state AFL-CIO executive committee. Delegates representing the full, two million members of the union vote today at their Kiamesha Lake convention.

Supporters of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Arthur J. Goldberg hoped at best to persuade the AFL-CIO to make no endorsement and remain neutral. While there was some talk of a floor fight to block the governor's endorsement, the feeling at the convention was that Rockefeller would win.

The AFL-CIO executive committee has recommended backing a split ticket that includes Rockefeller and Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Republican Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, and two Democrats, Comptroller Arthur Levitt and Rep. Richard L. Ottinger who is running for U.S. Senate.

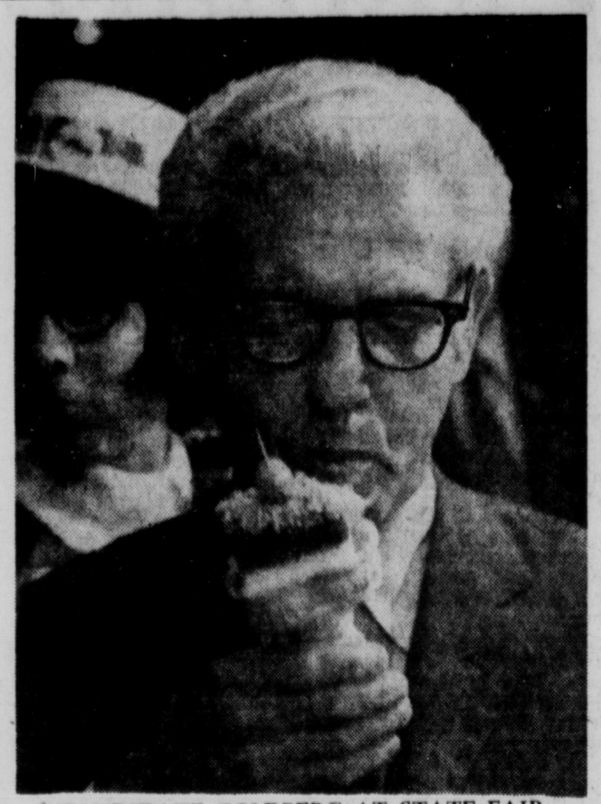

Goldberg addressed the convention Wednesday and Rockefeller was slated to speak shortly before the vote on the endorsement was scheduled.

In a speech prepared for some 1,500 delegates attending the 13th constitutional convention of the labor organization, Rockefeller disclosed he had sent telegrams to the state's representatives in the Senate and House to support a $2 nationwide minimum wage. Present minimum wage in New York is $1.85 under a law enacted this year in Albany.

"Working people shouldn't have to be the pawns in this economic rivalry among states," the governor said.

"If I'm re-elected," Rockefeller added, "I'm going to submit legislation immediately requiring that if unemployment reaches a certain level and stays there for 13 weeks, then we will add 13 more weeks of unemployment benefits to the present 26.

"This will put us a full year ahead of the federal government's deadline for doing this," he said.

Spectacular Thruway Crash—Nine Are Injured

By WALTER S. CLARK

ROSENDALE — Nine persons were injured two critically, as the result of a spectacular motor vehicle collision that occurred at about 4:15 p. m. Wednesday on the State Thruway about six miles south of Kingston interchange.

The two critically injured were reported in the intensive care unit at Benedictine Hospital where their condition was described as poor.

Troop T State Police said the vehicles were operated by Margaret Cuomo, 49, of 524 Schenectady Street, Schenectady, James Loder, 38, of 34 Hibben Road, Princeton, N.J., and John Vilardi, 61, of 357 Madison Avenue, Cedarhurst.

Vilardi was cited by troopers for reckless driving.

According to State Police, the Cuomo car was northbound on the superhighway when a flat tire forced the operator to pull over and stop on the shoulder of the highway. Loder, described as a college professor, happened along and he stopped to assist in changing the flat tire, troopers said.

The occupants of both vehicles got out of the cars and were standing on the soft shoulder. Loder was jacking up the disabled vehicle when the northbound car driven by Vilardi veered off the pavement and collided with the rear of the Cuomo car pushing it into the Loder automobile. During the movement of the three cars the people who had left the Cuomo and Loder vehicles were hit and some were knocked to the ground.

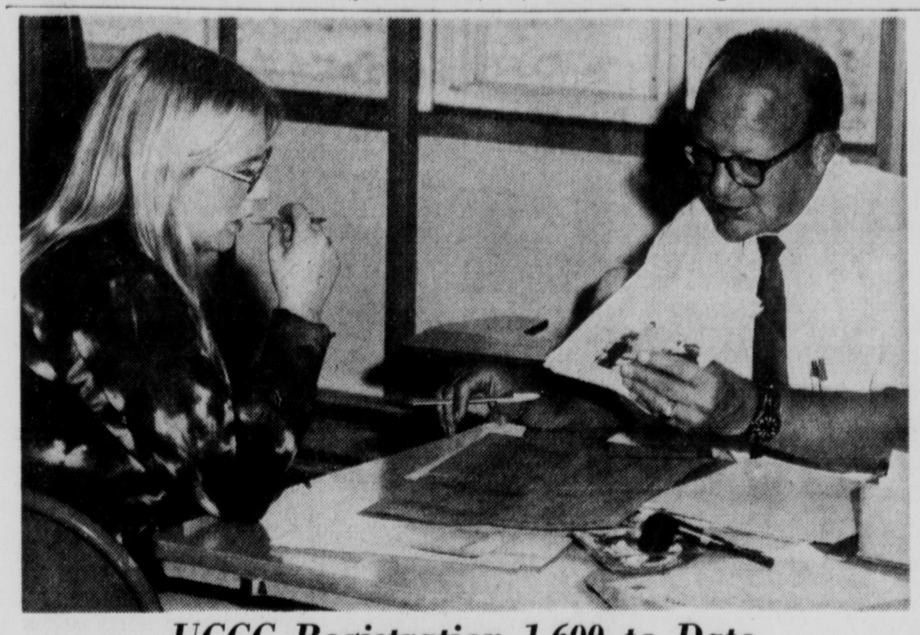

Loder suffered chest injuries, fractured ribs, head injuries and he lost his right thumb which was amputated. His condition was poor at Benedictine Hospital.

Gisele Minshell, 42, of 959 Emmett Street, Schenectady, a passenger in the Cuomo car, sustained a fractured pelvis, cerebral concussion and lacerations and bruises. Her condition also was listed at Benedictine as "poor."

Others injured in the mishap according to the reports of Troopers John Ryan, Roger Swanson and Arthur Krug who investigated were.

Michael Minshell, 9, minor injuries. John Vilardi, lacerations of the face and lips. His wife, Ann, 47, lacerations and abrasions. Tami Loder, 2, facial injuries. Arlene Loder, 34, wife of the New Jersey driver, back injuries and bruises. Kim Loder, 11, contusions of the jaw.

Loder, the Minshells and Vilardi and his wife were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance Service. Margaret Cuomo was removed from the scene of the mishap to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance.

See 3 Weeks Work At Rhinebeck Plant

BY TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK — Mayor Peter F. Sipperley estimates that it will be at least "two or three more weeks" until the Rhinebeck water plant can be put back in operation.

In speaking to The Freeman Wednesday, he noted that all of the motors had been taken out and taken to Anthony Costanzi, contractor of Kingston after the flood two weekends ago that covered the plant with 15 feet of water.

The "five or six" motors sustained no permanent damage, but had to be dried out. They were replaced at the treatment plant this week.

While village officials and experts caucused Tuesday night to try to reach some concrete cost forecasts and plans, Sipperley said that it remained to be determined exactly how much damage, and how much cost, has resulted.

He said that there has been extensive damage to the electrical controls in the $1.2 million plant, which were submerged.

The building itself has not yet been more than casually inspected for damage, as the village is more interested in getting the plant functional once again.

However, Sipperley said that one section of "floor has settled" due to the flooding, and will have to be fixed to prevent leakages.

The alternate water system has been "functioning fine" he added, with several weeks duty ahead of it.

Sipperley also stated that the Village Board meeting scheduled for Tuesday has been rescheduled for Sept. 15 because several members will be away.

Clues Being Sought In Death of Waitress

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) —Investigators still sought clues today to the mysterious, roadside death of an artistic, part-time waitress, who was to have flown to Paris Wednesday for further schooling. Homicide remained the theory.

Miss Alice Vrablic, 20, of nearby Wappingers Falls, vanished in the wee hours of Aug. 22, after leaving her restaurant job at midnight. Her decomposed body was not discovered until last Tuesday, a few feet down an embankment beside a road a quarter-mile from her home.

Detective Charles Borchers of the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department said today no possibility existed for determining the cause of death, unless a witness produced evidence.

Two fellow waitresses had given the slim, attractive brunette a ride from the Route 9 restaurant to an intersection slightly under four miles from her family's home. The waitresses are not under suspicion, the sheriff's office said.

The relative said she had studied art at the New Paltz College of the State University and later attended Harvard to major in art history.

More Diptheria

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) —The city reported its 76th and 77th diphtheria cases of the year Wednesday and its 46th and 47th cases since Aug. 1.

City, state and federal health officials are trying to locate diphtheria carriers to isolate them until they are well in an attempt to stop the epidemic.

Drowning Verdict—Accidental

KERHONKSON — A tentative verdict of accidental death due to asphyxia has been reported by Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp in the case of 66-year-old Albert Lawrence Kremper of Tillson, who drowned Wednesday when his station wagon went out of control and plunged into the Rondout Creek.

The mishap occurred a short distance from the High Falls four corners, Route 213 and Lucas Avenue Extension.

Coroner Chipp said an examination of the body at the county morgue showed that Kremper died of asphyxia from drowning.

According to authorities, Kremper had been driving along Route 213 and the operator had made a turn into Lucas Avenue Extension when the vehicle went out of control, veered off the pavement and went several hundred feet through underbrush before it entered the creek coming to a stop submerged in about 12 feet of water 20 feet off shore.

Kremper, who reportedly had experienced "blackouts" in the past, was seen struggling in the water in a frantic attempt to save his life before he finally disappeared beneath the surface, it was said.

Two scuba divers recovered the body in about an hour. The submerged vehicle was lifted from the water by a Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation crane and a wrecker from a nearby garage.

The fatality was investigated by Chipp and State Police Investigator Edward Whalen, Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes and Trooper F. H. Steiner of the Ellenville State Police and members of the staff of Sheriff William B. Martin.

Chipp said the investigation is continuing.

University of Wisconsin Bombing—Four Are Sought

THREE SUSPECTS—The FBI identified four young men charged in Federal warrants in connection with the bombing last week of a University of Wisconsin research center which killed one person and injured four. Sought on charges of sabotage, destruction of Government property and conspiracy are: (L-R)Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22, a former student at the university, his brother Dwight Alan Armstrong, 19, a high school dropout from Madison; and David Sylvan Fine, 18, night editor of the student newspaper at the university. The fourth man sought, Lee Frederick Burt, is not shown. (FBI PHOTOS VIA UPI TELEPHOTO)

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Four young men who slipped into the underground after being stopped by police investigating the Aug. 24 explosion at the University of Wisconsin were being sought today on federal charges.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced Wednesday that charges of sabotage, conspiracy and destruction of government property had been filed against the four.

They were identified as Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22, Madison, a former student at the University of Wisconsin; his 19-year-old brother, Dwight Allen Armstrong, a high school dropout; David Sylva Fine, 18, of Madison and Wilmington, Del., who recently worked for the UW student newspaper, the Cardinal, and a former staff member of a Students For a Democratic Society publication at the University of Delaware; and Leo Frederick Burt, 22, Madison, a summer session student who also wrote for the Cardinal.

"We don't have any idea where they are," U.S. Attorney John Olson said. "We will have a hard, long pull now that we've gotten this far."

The explosion in the early morning hours of Aug. 24 killed Robert Fassnacht, 33, a research physicist who was the father of three, and injured four other persons. The blast, set in a stolen van truck, tore through part of the Army Mathematics Research Center on the campus and caused $6 million damage.

According to an affidavit filed in U.S. District Court, a car containing the four young men was stopped by a Sauk County police officer north of Madison shortly after the bombing. They told the officer they were university students going to an outing at Devil's Lake, Wis., the affidavit said. Later, it said, the car was traced to the Armstrong's father, Donald.

Investigators said the explosion may have been set with a mixture of fuel oil and nitrogen fertilizer. The FBI charged that Karleton Armstrong bought large quantities of both before Aug. 24.

The affidavit quoted a friend of the Armstrongs, Maxim Suter, as saying that shortly before the bombing the Armstrongs told him they were responsible for the abortive aerial bombing of the Badger Ordnance Works near Barbaboo, Wis., last New Year's Day.

The FBI said the Armstrongs contracted relatives in Madison and asked that money be wired to them in New York. Agents found at a Madison home a letter from Fine, postmarked in New York, saying "We (Dave and Leo) are in N.Y. with good contacts ready to head for Canada.

James C. Boll, Dane County district attorney, said murder charges would be filed later in connection with the death of Fassnacht. He did not say who would be charged.

Census Figures—Dems May Lose Legislature Seats

AP News Analysis

ALBANY, N.Y. AP—If the preliminary census figures hold up as expected, the balance of political power in New York State will continue its steady drift away from New York City.

The result of the census, as seen by reapportionment experts, is that the Democratic bastion will lose several seats in the legislature to the largely Republican area on Long Island and upstate. The city also will probably lose two seats in Congress.

The impact on the legislature could be especially critical, because majority control of the Assembly in recent years has hinged on only one or two seats. Republicans are battling hard in the present election campaigns to preserve their narrow 79-71 rule over the Assembly, where 76 votes are needed for control. The GOP enojys a wider 33-24 margin in the Senate, but its hold on several districts is shaky.

The outcome of the current legislative elections is crucial, because the party that controls the 1971 legislature will hold the whip hand in redistricting the Senate and Assembly on the basis of the 1970 census figures. The decisions it enforces could determine the political complexion of the legislature for the next decade.

The census figures made public Wednesday show that the state has gained about 1.2 million in population since 1960—rising from 16.7 million to 17.9 million. This had been anticipated.

The figures also revealed that most of the gain was in the fast-growing suburban counties on Long Island and immediately north of New York City, which by contrast, lost about 10,000 inhabitants.

When it comes time to reallocate legislative and congressional seats on the basis of these population shifts, the inevitable result will be to diminish the city's representation and transfer the lost seats to the big-growth counties outside the city.

This is the picture, as projected by redistricting experts:

Assembly—New York City, which now has 68 Assembly seats, will be cut to 65. At least two of the seats will be shifted to Suffolk County, which now has six and which has experienced a population boom. The third seat probably will be spread among the lower Hudson counties of Rockland, Putnam, Dutchess and Orange, all of which also have grown substantially.

Senate—on the basis of complicated formula written into the State Constitution, total membership of the State Senate must be increased, from the present 57 to perhaps 59. New York City, which now has 26 of the present 57 seats, will be limited to 25 of the future 59—plus part of another, maybe. Again, the suburban area will pick up the additional representation.

Congress—as part of the national population shift, New York State may lose two of its present 41 seats in Congress. It appears that New York City will absorb both losses. The city now has 19 of the present 41 seats. The present political lineup statewide is 26 Democrats and 15 Republicans, but the population changes probably will improve GOP chances of taking majority control of the congressional delegation—especially if Republicans are drawing the new district lines.

So, New York Democrats are in double jeopardy. Their position has been weakened by the new census figures, and—unless they can recapture the legislature in the November elections—they will be almost completely at the mercy of the Republicans.

That's why the coming elections are so vitally important.

Tax-Exempt System Is Started by Rubin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, using the laws of "the system" he seeks to destroy, has set up a tax-exempt foundation to shield a major portion of his income from federal tax collectors.

The foundation, called the Social Education Foundation and also known as the Jerry Rubin Fund, holds the copyright on Rubin's best-selling, revolution-preaching book, "Do it!' 'Proceeds from the book go to the foundation and are thereby protected from income tax assessments.

Among other things, the Rubin book calls on young people to leave their homes, burn their schools and create a new society.

Legal papers filed with the Internal Revenue Service say the foundation would, among other things, use its funds for "relief of the poor, distressed and underprivileged ... Lessen the burdens of government ... defend human and civil rights secured by law ... and make awards to citizens who render conspicuous service to the community."

The foundation, however, is 3½ months delinquent in filing a mandatory tax statement with IRS.

The foundation was incorporated in New York in May 1969. The sole trustee is Nancy S. Kurshan, identified in the past as Rubin's wife.

How much money Rubin and other benefactors have shoveled into the foundation could not be determined. The tax statements of tax-exempt foundations are public records, but Rubin's foundation has not filed any tax statement.

And his literary agent and lawyer aren't saying how much he's made.

"We have a normal setup," Carl Brandt, Rubin's New York literary agent said in a telephone interview. "Simon & Schuster (publishers of "Do It!") send over the proceeds, I take my fee off the top and forward the rest to the foundation's mailing address." Brandt would not divulge the address.

Rubin's lawyer, Abraham L. Wax, would say even less.

"Write me a letter,' 'he told a reporter.

The foundation papers filed last year say the organization had assets of $2,000 when formed.

Rubin, convicted with four other members of the Chicago 7 in connection with the violent demonstrations in Chicago at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, could not be reached for elaboration.

Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, who first heard of the foundation, called it "a disgrace and an affront to the ordinary law-abiding citizens of this country that a man like Rubin should be granted a tax haven for the profits of his propaganda. The director of the IRS should revoke his tax exemption.

"We should not be forced to subsidize our own destruction with our own taxes."

Port Jervis, New Paltz Banks Announce Merger

NEW PALTZ — The Cooperative Loan and Savings Society of Port Jervis has merged into the New Paltz Savings Bank as a third office, according to announcement made by Robert D. Glanz, president of the New Paltz Savings Bank.

With announcement of the merger, the New Paltz Savings Bank becomes the only banking facility in the Hudson River and Minisink Valleys with three offices.

The merger, which will increase the combined assets of the New Paltz bank to more than 54 million, is subject to approval by vote of the shareholders of the Cooperative Loan and Savings Society and also of the regulatory agencies.

The Cooperative Loan and Savings Society, with assets of $9 million, was incorporated in 1891 as a savings and loan institution. Since 1964, the Port Jervis bank has operated out of new offices and its present staff will continue to manage the facility after the merger is finalized.

The increased size of the merged institutions is expected to minimize operating costs by combining many banking procedures. It was further noted that the Port Jervis bank will join the New Paltz Savings Bank's computer system, which will mean greater efficiency in operations. It is also expected that additional mortgage funds will become available to bank customers.

Two members of the Port Jervis bank's Board of Directors, Harold C. Case and Francis J. Murphy, will join the Board of Trustees of the New Paltz Savings Bank. The remaining directors of the Port Jervis office will serve as an advistory board.

Joel L. Whitten, president of the Port Jervis bank, will serve as a vice president of the New Paltz Savings Bank.

GRAND OPENING—A ribbon cutting ceremony this week marked the official grand opening of Jay-Vee Rug Company, discount carpet showroom and warehouse on Route 28, three miles west of Kingston. Food Fair Opens Shopping Center

PHILADELPHIA—Food Fair Properties, Inc., of this city, will soon add a 46th link in its chain of shopping centers. Ground was broken this week for Twin City Mall, enclosed regional shopping center, on a 40-acre tract straddling Lake Park and North Palm Beach, Fla.

According to an announcement by Norman M. Kranzdorf, vice president and general manager of Food Fair Properties, Twin City Mall will comprise more than 400,000 square feet of selling space and accommodate 40 stores and a film theatre.

Upon completion twin city Mall will have Sears, Roebuck and Company as one of its anchor stores. The Sears building and a detached automotive center will take up a total of 117,000 square feet. A small segment of the Twin City Mall site is presently occupied by a J.M. Fields department store, a Food Fair Stores unit and a grouping of retail and service stores.

Founded in 1955, Food Fair Properties is the country's largest publicly held shopping center chain. There are 45 shopping centers in the chain, including nine regional retail complexes. For each of the last three years the company has set new records for total income and earnings.

ADDS NEW LINE—Trudy's Beauty Salon has recently gone into a new line—men's hair coloring and wigs. The salon, located in Red Hook, offers Men's Night on Tuesday and Wednesday for men only. Pictured are Veva Cekalski, assistant who trained in Yugoslavia; Ray LeFebvre, WGHQ announcer, and Mayor Ellroy Hand of Red Hook, who bought wigs and Trudy Nascimeno, owner of the salon. Rafalowsky Cited By Two Magazines

KINGSTON — Two nationally prominent magazines have bestowed accolades on H. G. Rafalowsky, 71 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

From "Gentlemen's Quarterly," a men's fashion magazine, Rafalowsky's was designated as a new breed fashion center for fall, 1970 in recognition that the store is approved by GQ as "A prime source for the up-to-date styles preferred by the new generation of active, on-the-go American males."

Rafalowsky's will be listed in the September "Back to School-Back to Town" issue of GQ.

In addition, Playboy Magazine has also designated Rafalowsky's as a leader in presenting "what's happening in men's apparel for fall, 1970." It lists Rafalowsky's as a campus fashion leader in its September issue.

Both magazines are on display in the store, with a limited number of issues to be given to customers on request.

Holiday Traffic Deaths

As families pack bags and cars for the summer's last holiday, here are some thoughts for drivers to tuck in their minds and take along on their trips:

It doesn't pay to be obstinate about who has the right of way. Refusal to yield is killing motorists every day on our highways.

The throttle and the bottle make a lethal mixture. A high percentage of those killed in auto accidents had been drinking.

Speeding and reckless driving are involved in thousands of highway deaths every year.

It's folly not to use a seat belt. The National Safety Council claims thousands of lives could be saved if seat belts were used.

Defensive driving—being constantly alert to changing conditions in your rapidly changing surroundings—can save lives.

Over the years the Labor Day weekend has produced heavy traffic and a related high accident rate with a high death toll.

Driving carefully, courteously and cautiously could help keep the Hudson Valley free of traffic fatalities through this last weekend of summer.

Assaults on Police

Since January 1, 1968, about 400 terrorist attacks have been made on police officers, killing at least 28, injuring more than 325. Millions of dollars of damage has been done to police stations, patrol cars, and other police property. The attackers are organized revolutionaries who have begun guerrilla warfare in this country. Their aim now is the police, who are a visible symbol of the Establishment they want to destroy. They know also that, without police, the citizenry is helpless and unprotected and can be vandalized, murdered, or hurt.

Criminal assaults on police, which were not counted in the first totals, but which could have been, in part at least, generated from revolutionaries' contempt of the lawkeepers, numbered 35,202 in 1969 alone. Killed last year by criminals were 86 police.

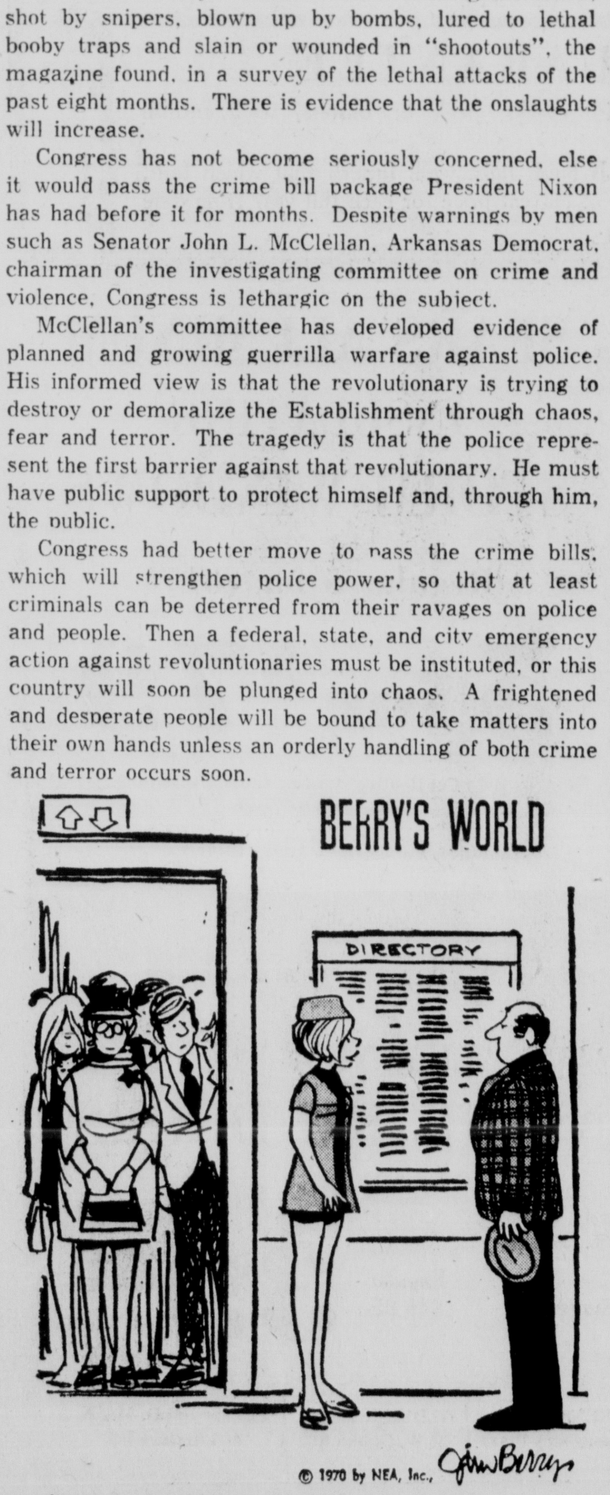

A roundup of the incidents the first eight months of this year, in U.S. News & World Report for August 31, calls the killing of police the newest tactic in a spreading campaign of terrorism in this country. It shows a map which spots 54 cities where violent attacks have taken the lives of police, black and white, or wounded them.

The attacks vary. Police officers are being ambushed, shot by snipers, blown up by bombs, lured to lethal booby traps and slain or wounded in "shootouts", the magazine found, in a survey of the lethal attacks of the past eight months. There is evidence that the onslaughts will increase.

Congress has not become seriously concerned, else it would pass the crime bill package President Nixon has had before it for months. Despite warnings by men such as Senator John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the investigating committee on crime and violence, Congress is lethargic on the subject.

McClellan's committee has developed evidence of planned and growing guerrilla warfare against police. His informed view is that the revolutionary is trying to destroy or demoralize the Establishment through chaos, fear and terror. The tragedy is that the police represent the first barrier against that revolutionary. He must have public support to protect himself and, through him, the public.

Congress had better move to pass the crime bills, which will strengthen police power, so that at least criminals can be deterred from their ravages on police and people. Then a federal, state, and city emergency action against revoluntionaries must be instituted, or this country will soon be plunged into chaos. A frightened and desperate people will be bound to take matters into their own hands unless an orderly handling of both crime and terror occurs soon.

"Yes, sir. 'Rugs' are on the third and seventh floors—are you looking for something to walk on or to wear?"

Sex Is a Four-Letter Word

David Lawrence Says
Rejection of 'End War' Move Strengthens U.S. Prestige

WASHINGTON — The Senate's refusal to set a deadline to bring home American troops from Vietnam may not have ended the controversy, as the issue is sure to remain a live one with Democrats in the Northern states. The vote by which the proposal was rejected in the Senate reveals that more than half of the Democrats supported the measure, and these Senators are practically all from Northern states.

The indications are that the question will be raised in the Congressional elections, in which many of the Senators are up for re-election this time. On the Republican side, only seven voted for the deadline idea, but here, too, six out of the seven come from states in the northeast.

It is evident that the Vietnam War will be one of the principal topics debated in the campaign. The tactics of the Democrats will be to blame the administration for failing to end the conflict. Republicans will continue to point out that they inherited the war from the Democratic administrations of Presidents Johnson and Kennedy.

Several of the speakers for the Democratic side are acknowledging that the Vietnam War may have been a mistake, but they insist that it now should be ended promptly. They therefore endorse virtually all the measures that are offered which appear to be directed to that result. Obviously, there is a political appeal in being against war. It has proved successful in many a campaign heretofore. One of the reasons is that once the United States has entered a conflict, the probability that the draft would be applied to a number of young men creates uncertainty for their careers as well as apprehension about their possible fate in the battle zones.

The administration in office has always found it difficult to come up with a good political argument in defense of a war, and President Nixon this time is trying to bring about a gradual withdrawal of troops from Vietnam as proof that he is endeavoring to bring the war to an early conclusion. While his moves are applauded even by some of the Democratic Senators, the opposition keeps talking about setting timetables to end the war and abolish the draft. This, unfortunately, gives political critics some advantages, because the other side of the argument is not as a rule presented effectively.

After World War II broke out, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, won a third term in 1940 on an "antiwar" platform, and there are historians who believe that the enemy misconstrued this to mean that they could count on America's abstention from the war. When the attack was made on Pearl Harbor in 1941 by the Japanese, it was still assumed by the Germans that the United States would not get into the war in Europe.

Today the theory is that, if the United States weakens its support of the smaller countries of Asia, the Communists will move in and before long a major war will break out which will envelop not only Europe but the United States. Such a contingency is hard to explain to the voters during a political campaign, and that is why the Republican members of Congress will be at a disadvantage in the next few weeks before the congressional elections in November.

President Nixon has been trying hard to encourage America's allies in Asia to stand their ground and prepare to defend themselves. he realizes that a third world war is not impossible, and he is much more concerned about the greater loss of life that may be entailed in such a worldwide conflict than in the casualties of the small war which is today being brought under control in Vietnam.

Refusal of a majority in the Senate to set a deadline for withdrawel from Vietnam will help to strengthen the prestige of the United States abroad and will assure America's allies that the United States is not going to desert them. This can be an important factor in discouraging the Communists. The Nixon administration intends, moreover, to furnish economic support to enable its allies in Asia to finance the maintenance of their own military organization. America will supply advisers, technicians and equipment, but manpower for defense will be the primary reponsibility of each of the countries receiving American aid.

Jack Anderson Says
Stars & Stripes Reporter Manhandled by Officer

WASHINGTON — Pacific Stars and Stripes is the hometown newspaper for 250,000 American soldiers in the Far East who depend upon the paper for honest, uncensored news.

But the recent firing of the government-published daily's Saigon bureau chief has raised serious questions as to whether Stars and Stripes is as Free of military control as the Pentagon claims.

This column has now uncovered a new aspect of the dispute, which has been suppressed by the Stars and Stripes. It shows that the Saigon bureau chief, Pat Luminello, was dismissed after he protested that one of his reporters had been manhandled by an officer.

Based on Army documents, here is what happened:

Luminello sent Spec. 4 Bill Toliver to cover a military briefing in Saigon. There, Toliver got into an argument with Cmdr. Ted Bush, a military information officer, over whether the reporter had been properly authorized to attend the session.

As Luminello formally reports it, "Bush grabbed Toliver's notebook and ripped the notes out scattering them over the office. Toliver started to pick them up, and Bush physically restrained him by pushing him back into the chair and seizing his hand."

Luminello, 38, a civilian with solid newspaper experience, complained to Bush's boss of "physical abuse against one of my reporters by a military superior." He angrily asked Bush whether he would have dared to try such tactics with AP or UPI.

Luminello did not have long to wait to find out the costs of standing up for an enlisted man. Pacific Stars and Stripes Editor Col. William Koch cashiered Luminello as bureau chief, sending him back to a desk job in Tokyo.

The purported reason was that the New York Times was about to carry an article by a former Saigon bureau staffer which was highly cirtical of U.S. military information policies in Vietnam and of Koch personally.

Holds Up Pay Rise

Then, on June 10, Koch also withheld a pay increase for Luminello, saying his work was not "at an acceptable level of competence."

Yet two of the stories cited in Koch's case against the bureau chief had brought congratulations from Luminello's bosses. And Koch had not even been connected with Stars and Stripes when the stories were printed.

Col. Koch was a U.S. military spokesman at the time and had once tried to get Luminello to let him see copies of his stories before they went into the paper.

The pay rise episod was too much for Stars and Stripes managing editor John Baker also a veteran civilian newspaperman. Knowing full well he was risking his job, Baker signed a statement defending Luminello as a talented and valuable newsman.

Baker laced the colonel as "vindictive," and personally refuted Koch's accusations against Luminello. He said that Koch had fired the bureau chief over this objections, and finally urged an immediate pay increase for Luminello.

Baker has now quit Stars and Stripes after saying he was willing to back up his countercharges against the colonel with sworn testimony.

As for Luminello, he has filed a grievance against Koch's actions and is presently working as a copy editor for Stars and Stripes in Tokyo. Reached at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., en route to his assignment in Japan, Luminello said:

"They can't fire me all the way because they can't figure out how to do it without a hearing. Oh, in the end, they'll get me, but they'll know they had a scrap."

Luminello is counting on the official "employee performance appraisal" filed at the time of his troubles with Koch by assistant news editor of Stars and Stripes, Francis Tamietti. It shows him "above average high rating" in every area.

More Auto Service Gyps

This column has been flooded with letters since our recent report on "service station harpies" who trick and bully drivers into paying for unneeded repairs and accessories. Here are some of their complaints:

Warren G. Stambaugh, American Automobile Association publications editor, writes that:

"The latest gimmick, involves the credit card. When the attendant is making out the charge slip for a purchase, he writes the correct amount in the space provided and imprints a higher amount — usually exactly $10 — on the charge slip with the embossing machine. The motorist will look only at the handwritten amount, sign the slip and drive on.

"The attendant ther alters the handwritten amount to agree with the imprinted amount and pockets the difference."

William D. Shaffer, Lafayette Hill, Pa., writes that he has sent a letter with his credit card payment saying he wants to withhold $64.83 from his next payment to cover bilkings at the hands of a service station.

S. H. Carroll, Takoma Park, Md., Went to a restroom and came out to find an attendant installing a new gas filter even though his regular service station and checked the filter only two days before and found it in good condition.

Henry J. Taylor Says
$2 Billion Lost in Gold

BASEL, Switzerland. — The chiefs of the Bank for International Settlements, headquarters here, tell me that when the Great Gold Bubble burst — with gold back on its $35 bottom — spectators lost at least $2 billion. Good riddance, they say, of bad rubbish. And all to the good for our American dollar.

The international gold standard was the greatest adventure in economic "integration" the world has ever seen. Combined with free trade or even moderate tariffs, it worked toward turning the world into a single market.

With worldwide millions, the wisdom of generations shows that gold is real wealth and paper money is not, a knowledge that does not question itself and does not change.

For example, the napoleon is the classic French gold piece. In 1914 it was worth 20 paper francs. Today it is worth 1,840 — an increase of 39,200 per cent. While the paper franc flutters, the napoleon remains heavy in your hand as only gold can be.

There are, nevertheless, always speculators who come out of the woodwork like termites and attack the currency of any country by trying for a killing in gold. Sometimes their speculations which include planted rumors, create their own weakness in currencies that could otherwise weather the other storms.

They perform against a suspect currency like a weakening lion surrounded by a pack of jackals. First, they gather cautiously, ready to flee. Then, gaining boldness from one another, they rush in to devour the giant that was, saying, "Why, he wasn't such a big lion after all." In this way these wreckers make their profit — and make it terribly tough on the Bank for International Settlements.

Its chiefs here, trying to stablilize the free world's currencies by keeping gold near the $35-an-ounce level, are in constant battle with these monstrously large, shining ravens who fly in formation like a phalanx of fighter planes, squawking their arrogance, in the checker board world of international finance.

Well, on December 8, 1969 the London price in free gold market dealings slipped below the official monetary level to $34.90. This was the lowest in the 36 years since President Roosevelt fixed the price for monetary gold at $35, an increase of more than $14 an ounce from its old price of $20.67.

The London gold market traditionally supplies buyers with 12.5-kilogram (27.5-pound) bars. Paris market dealers go as low as one kilogram (2.2 pounds) per bar. Monetary gold bought by governments at the two-tier's $35 price is easily distinguishable at the Bank for International Settlements from the hoarding and speculative demand.

The BES chiefs here trace most of the heavy, relentless purchases to widely scattered European speculators, many rich Latin-Americans who have been taking their money out of Latin America steadily since Castro took over Cuba, rich sheiks in the Middle East oil domains, and large numbers of extraordinarily wealthy Chinese, Malayans, Indians and Japanese in the Far East. In fact, they tell me that Chinese groups in Hong Kong were among the largest single speculators who ran gold up to above $46.

These operators stated (and preached) that gold was going to $70 an ounce, and their greed was inquenchable because they were so positive they were riding a "sure thing."

But greed for a "sure thing" is a heady wine. And when events did not bear out all this, the positive buyers turned into panicky sellers (as is usual in speculation) and the Great Gold Bubble collapsed like a pricked balloon.

Snails Pace to Mideast Peace

By LEON DENNEN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) — International negotiations are not "a baseball game that ends with a box score immediately visible," said a veteran Western diplomat.

He was commenting on the frustrations of impatient State Department officials who are pushing for a settlement of the Middle East conflict.

In the diplomat's view, the fact that Egypt and Israel maintain the cease-fire — despite charges and countercharges of violations — is itself a factor of hope. The original 90-day truce will be extended to six months and then to a year even if the antagonists continue to negotiate only about negotiations.

But it will be some time before there is a visible diplomatic box score. The Arabs and Israel are as far apart as ever on all issues that divide them.

United Nations mediator Gunnar Jarring will need the wisdom of Solomon and the patience of Job to navigate his way through perilous political sands.

According to President Nixon, no political solution of the Arab-Israeli dispute could be achieved if Egypt and Jordan insist that Israel must withdraw completely to her borders before the six-day war of June, 1967, or if Israel seeks a "substantial acquistion" of territory.

The Israelis now accept the U.S. view that one of the principal items for negotiations should be their final borders.

However, Egypt's President Nasser and Jordan's King Hussein stand firm on their demand that Israel must withdraw to her 1967 lines. They insist that only the timing and mechanics of the withdrawal can be negotiated at this time.

But under no conditions, now or in the foreseeable future, will the Arabs agree to conclude a formal peace treaty with Israel.

The Israelis thus were understandably perturbed when the U.N. announcement of the reactivation of Jarring's peace mission spoke only of their willingness to withdraw from occupied territories.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant "forgot" to menion in his formal report the Israeli condition that a pullback would be possible only to "secure and recognized boundaries" after the conclusion of a peace treaty that recognizes Israel's right to exist as a nation.

"Was this an honest mistake?" the Israelis asked. Or is U Thant playing his usual ambiguous role as a "neutral" on the side of Russia and the Arabs?

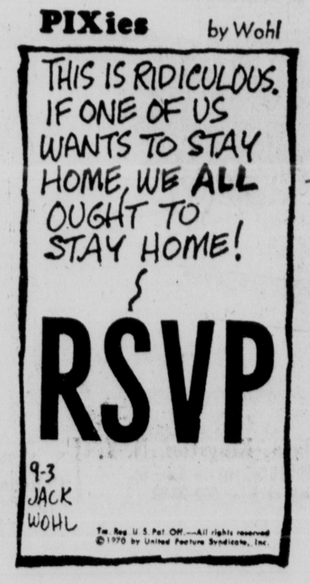

Israel has reason to be suspicious. The Arabs continue to emphasize that their acceptance of the U.S. peace initiative commits them to no change of basic policies. In fact, they see their acceptance as a maneuver that offers diplomatic advantages capable of isolating Israel from the United States and weakening her militarily and politically.

Nor are Nasser and Hussein trying very hard to curb the Arab terrorists and guerrillas who, in an effort to sabotage the negotiations, are stepping up their attack on Israel.

One way the Arab leaders can prove their sincerity, the Israelis say, is to muzzle the guerrillas. Until this happens Israel must continue to fight against their incursions.

Nevertheless, there is some hope of an eventual diplomatic breakthrough.

U.S. Still in Dark On New Red Missile

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What really disturbs U.S. defense officials about the latest Soviet SS-11 ballistic missile tests in the Pacific is that, despite our careful monitoring, it has been impossible for American military missile experts to determine whether the multiple warheads on these missiles can be independently guided to separate targets.

It has been determined, quite easily of course, that each of the two SS-11s fired over a 5,700-mile range on Aug. 21 had three warheads.

But the crucial point is whether the three warheads fire in sort of a shotgun effect on one target, or whether each of the three can be guided to separate and distinct targets which may be miles apart.

For shotgun-type missiles with a wide scatter range — and just that, (however powerful they may be).

But missiles with three separately targeted warheads are, in reality, three missiles. If each warhead is sufficiently accurate, the missiles can do incredibly more selective damage to enemy defenses.

The United States in the MIRV (multiple independently targeted vehicles) has this ability.

We do not know whether the Soviet Union has or not. We do not have this information for the SS-11s, nor do we have it for the larger SS-9s.

But this knowledge is of major importance to the current arms talks with Moscow. If there is to be any meaningful agreement, then we must know as much as possible about what the Soviet Union has. Otherwise, U.S. negotiators might agree to a treaty which would put this country in an unfortunate defense position, with awful long-range results for the future security of America and the West. It could lead rather quickly to particularly unhappy consequences for small independent nations.

At a time when the administration and Congress are both attempting to pare the defense budget, it is essential to be certain what the Soviet Union has and what it does not have. If the Russian pace of effective research and development is less than we now calculate, this could make some defense cuts possible that are not considered possible with our present state of knowledge.

What this missile problem illustrates is that the future security of this country (and the ability to hold defense spending down to what is absolutely necessary for that defense) depends on increasing the quality of U.S. intelligence gathering. Running in the dark is very expensive and can be fully dangerous.

Support Is Found for Idea Of Voluntary Male Sterilization

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1970, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

* * *

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 2—A majority of adults who have heard or read about the male sterilization operation, called vasectomy, express general approval of the practice. The operation is legal in all 50 states on a voluntary basis.

Approximately two-thirds of all persons interviewed in this recent nation-wide survey express awareness of the operation. Of this aware group, 53 per cent approve the idea of voluntary male sterilization. It is important to note that the survey question was designed only to measure reaction to the concept and not willingness to undergo the operation oneself.

Among the aware group, approval is far higher among adults in their twenties than among older adults. College-trained people are also far more inclined to favor the operation than are those with less formal education. Very little difference is found between the views of men and women.

Catholics Are Divided

The survey also discloses the interesting fact that half of all Roman Catholics among the aware group express approval of the idea of voluntary male sterilization, despite their Church's opposition to the practice.

Leading proponents of vasectomy argue that parents who have all the children they want and who can provide for them should be free to choose any birth control method they want—including voluntary sterilization.

Description of Operation

Vasectomy involves the closing of a small tube on each side of the scrotum—the vas deferens—which carries the sperm. Usually, this minor operation is performed in the doctor's office under local anesthesia.

Medical authorities say the operation is ordinarily performed as a permanent measure and should not be undertaken unless the parents are sure they want no more children. The operation makes a man infertile but not impotent. Continuing research is improving the techniques for surgical restoration of fertility (reversal), but a successful reversal cannot be assured in any individual case.

Voluntary sterilization is legal in all 50 states without restriction as to the reasons why it is performed, except in Connecticut and Utah where it is limited to reasons of "medical necessity."

The survey reported today was undertaken in more than 300 scientifically selected sampling points during the period July 31-August 2. A total of 1501 adults were interviewed in person. This question was asked first:

In the discussion over birth control methods, have you heard or read about the voluntary male sterilization operation?

The 63 per cent who answered in the affirmative were then asked this question:

Do you approve or disapprove of the idea of voluntary male sterilization?

Following are the national results and the findings by key groups, based on the views of the 972 adults who indicate awareness of the operation:

	App.	Dis-app.	No Opin.
NATIONAL ..	53	34	13
21-29 years	67	27	6
30-49 years	51	36	13
50 & over	47	37	16
College background .	68	22	10
High School ...	51	34	15
Grade School ..	37	55	8
Men	52	35	13
Women	55	33	12
Protestants ...	54	33	13
Catholics	43	43	14

The chief arguments in favor of the idea of voluntary male sterilization are seen in the following two comments from persons reached in the survey:

"Overpopulation is becoming a serious problem in this country—we have to take steps right away. The operation for males seems to me to be a simple and inexpensive way to help control population."

A 34-year old Concord, Calif., housewife voiced this opinion: "The male should share some of the responsibilty for limiting the size of one's family. I'm still worried about side effects from 'the Pill.'"

Chief Arguments Against

The chief arguments against the operation are seen in these two comments, the first from a 33-year old Boston lawyer:

"Destroying a normal body function runs counter to my religious upbringing — it's just not the answer to birth control."

A young Burbank, Illinois, male commented: "I don't believe in the operation because it takes away manhood."

Views of British

The views of the British public generally parallel those of the American public, judging from a survey carried out in June by the Gallup affiliate in Great Britain.

This question was asked of the total sample in the survey in that country:

Do you approve or disapprove of the idea of male sterilization?

The results: Approve—47 per cent; disapprove—30 per cent; no opinion—23 per cent.

Algae Decreases

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Binghamton Water Bureau officials are glad that the cool weather of autumn is approaching.

During hot days in August, the bureau had to stop water filtering operations every 12 hours to flush algae out of its pipes. With cool weather, the bureau can return to its usual flushing at 30-hour intervals.

'Tuneout Lines' Favored For the Major Candidates

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — With the state election campaigns about to move into high gear, a humane voter has come up with a device to spare New Yorkers from listening to long and boring campaign speeches.

The idea came to him he says, while switching channels on his television set. He paused long enough on one channel to see and hear a freckle-face boy deliver this motion picture line:

"Paw, even if Blue Boy loses the race, I'm not gonna sell him."

The voter-viewer perceived that, having absorbed that simple line, he really had seen the whole movie. No need to stay tuned — he knew the rest of it by heart.

Well, he reasoned, why not apply the same principle to politicians' campaign speeches? All you'd have to do is listen for the key line, then tune out. You'd have it all — and save a lot of time.

As a service to fellow voters who might feel obliged to heed the campaigners now and then, but not constantly, the astute voter came up with "tuneout lines" for the major candidates.

His research covered Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his Democratic opponent, Arthur J. Goldberg, plus the three candidates for U.S. senator, Republican Charles E. Goodell, Democrat Richard L. Ottinger and Conservative James L. Buckley. Similar lines will be supplied—on demand — for candidates for lesser offices.

Meanwhile, he suggests that if you hear these candidates deliver these lines, you can relax in the secure knowledge that you've heard the whole speech:

Gov. Rockefeller — "The only reason I'm running again is to be of continued service to the wonderful people of New York State, to carry forward the fine work we've begun in the fields of. .."

Arthur Goldberg — "I know that Nelson Rockefeller has tried to be a good governor, but he's been on the job too long and he's lost interest in solving the problems of . . ."

Charles Goodell — "So, if you look at the record, you'll find that actually I've supported President Nixon more often than. . ."

Richard Ottinger — "And if you examine my record in Congress, you'll find no evidence of the chameleon-like inconsistency of my Republican opponent, who now says he has changed his thinking on. . ."

James Buckley — "The trouble with my opponents is that they are one and the same, offering the people of this state no real choice between. . ."

The humane voter says he plans to use the leftover time by viewing TV broadcasts of the baseball pennant races, the World Series and professional football games. Only his wife regards him as inhumane.

School Is Heart of Community

By TOM TIEDE

WILSON POINT, La.—(NEA)—School has opened in this part of the South with at least one ironic twist to the desegregation dilemma.

Far from the blacktop here in central Louisiana there is a small, nonconforming, eight-grade institution which has been segregated for four decades. Now both pupils and parents are nervously aware that their traditions are in jeopardy.

One student, 11-year-old Phillip Coleman, says it for all:

"Everybody here likes school the way it's always been. We don't wanna be bused someplace else. We don't want anything different."

You may have already guessed that the ironic twist here is that Phillip Coleman is a Negro, not Caucasian. That his school is all black, not all white. And that the tradition of this boondock region is not rednecked bigotry—but pure and plainly soul.

Wilson Point is a mile or two of dirty road outside Ruby, La., which is outside Pineville, La., which is outside Alexandria. Never mind looking for it on a map. Locals say the best way to get here is as the crow flies—"only not many crows bother flying this way."

The neighborhood is entirely black. A colony of private Negroes, whose history predates the recollections of the 35 resident families.

The settlement is not much. Mostly potholes and pine tree needles.

"About the only thing good we got, other than a church, is our school," admits community leader Rev. Arthur Coleman. "We're all very proud of it. It's got a good academic record. That's why we don't want it to change none now."

Unfortunately, the law may insist that the school change. Because it's a glowing example of everything desegregation is trying to cure.

For one thing, the Wilson Point school is, say the authorities, too small. There are only three rooms, one a combination kitchen-cafeteria. And there are only two teachers — one who handles the first through fourth grades; a second who takes care of five through eight.

Moreover, the school is outmoded. History textbooks are old. Visual aids are scarce. And there is some foot-dragging in moving into the era of new math, new reading and new everything else.

Finally, obviously, Wilson Point is segregated.

Thus federal officials have said that "restructuring" is in order. The Wilson Point school may have to close. Explains school board member Charles Slay: "Washington has said it wants these kids to get an equal education with whites. Now, the school's not big enough to have whites bused in here. So what would happen is the black kids would have to be bused away. It that's what it comes down to, the Wilson Point school would die."

So here it is: The law. And here they are: The people of Wilson Point, easy and simple, poor but proud, worried that something that may be done "for" them will really be done "to" them.

They are miffed.

"I tell you," says Wilson Point Principal Pricilla Bush, "it'll be a bad day for these people if the school is closed. The school is the heart of the community. It's the meeting house, the cultural center — everything. Ladies borrow our lunch tables for socials, men borrow our books to write letters. And what's more, the school has the only deep water well in the area. Honestly, I don't think this community would survive if their schoolhouse was taken from them."

Susan Atkins Gets the Word

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite pleas from defendant Susan Atkins that she was losing her sanity because of severe abdominal pains, the judge in the Tate-LaBianca murder trial Wednesday ordered the young woman to remain in court and the trial to proceed.

"She is an articulate, lucid and apparently perfectly healthy young woman," Judge Charles H. Older said after being given a detailed report on Miss Atkins' physical examination.

With the jury looking on in the morning session, she rose to a crouch at the counsel table, crying aloud and clutching her abdomen.

"Your Honor, if you don't get me out of this courtroom I'm going to start screaming," she said.

"You've got to get me out of here. I can't take it any more. I'm hurting so bad."

Older excused the jury and recessed the trial until afternoon. Earlier, Dr. Margaret McCarran, an internist at the County-USC Medical Center, said an examination had shown Miss Atkins, 22, had been suffering from severe constipation, but that the ailment had been alleviated and there was no symptom whatsoever of any organic illness which could still be causing her discomfort. Dr. McCarran, also said it was possible Miss Atkins was experiencing "anxiety" pains of a psychosomatic nature.

The only witness at the session, M. Joseph Granado, a Police Department scientist, testified hairs found on the clothing allegedly worn by the Tate killers were almost identical to samples of hair taken from Miss Atkins.

Booster Meeting

The Kingston High School Football Boosters Association will conduct the group's first meeting of the 1970 season tonight, 8 p.m., in the Community Room of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, 267 Wall Street. Election of officers will take place at this time. It is the Boosters' third season of activity.

SUMMER READING—Last week the Town of of Ulster Library held its seventh Summer Reading Club award party to recognize those participants who read the most books over a seven-week period. Book reports on each book must also be submitted. A total of 433 books were read during this latest period. Mrs. Walter Burger, librarian, presented the certificates to all participants and ribbons to the top five. They include (l-r) Eileen Olsen, who read 35 books; Denise Fesco, 31; Sulu Kelley, 43 and Susan Houghtaling, 40. Also in the top five was William Johnson, 28, who is not shown. City Dog Census Starts Tuesday, Summonses Set

KINGSTON — Deputy Police Chief Julius Glassman made known today that Patrolman Ira Hadsel on Tuesday, Sept. 8 will start a canvass of the entire city for the purpose of taking the dog census, and owners of pets are urged to cooperate.

Meanwhile, the staff in the office of Louis F. DeCicco is preparing upwards of 100 summons that will be served on delinquent dog owners who failed to obtain a 1970 license for their pets. Those persons will be notified to appear in City Court.

The court has authority to impose a $2 fee in addition to cost of a license for the dogs, it was noted by officials.

It was estimated that the last dog population of the city was approximately 2,200.

The 1971 licenses are due on Jan. 1, but they may be obtained any time after the census is completed. The licenses may be purchased at the clerk's office in City Hall.

Rotary Barbecue Tickets on Sale

Tickets are available for the annual Kingston Rotary Barbecue to be held Saturday, Sept. 12 at the N. Y. State Armory. At the luncheon - meeting Wednesday, Ticket Chairman Ed. Stevens announced that tickets can be purchased from Rotarians or at the door of the Armory on Sept. 12.

Serving will begin at 2 p.m. and the barbecue will be held indoors so there will be no difficulty with weather.

Kingston Rotarians use the barbecue as their principal fund raising project. As any other community service club, Rotary uses the funds to assist and promote worthy community organizations.

District Governor Wendell Heilman made his official visit to Kingston Rotary and addressed the meeting on the object of Rotary and the fulfillment of its mission throughout the world.

James E. Norton, president of Rondout Savings Bank, was welcomed into membership of the local service club.

Man Jailed, Check Charge

Thomas Leslie Butler, 28, of Lake Katrine and 1250 Cambria Street, Christenburg, Va., was arrested today by detectives on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check in the amount of $422 at Al's Appliance, Kingston Plaza.

Butler was committed to county jail in lieu of $1,000 bail for reappearance in city court on Saturday. Police said they are also checking with the Alcohol Tax Commission on a report that the Virginia authorities have a bench warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

Hampers Blight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government agriculture experts say warm and dry weather across the corn belt last week may have hampered spread of the corn blight.

But they said it was still too early to project the precise effects. Corn belt areas suffering most from the blight are southern portions of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri and Iowa. The blight spreads most rapidly when wet and humid conditions prevail.

Ian Hain Case Reset Sept. 9

SAUGERTIES — The case of Ian Hain, Woodstock Sound Festival promoter, who is charged with violation of the Town of Saugerties Local Law No. 5 pertaining to the conduct of assemblages, has been adjourned until Wednesday, Sept. 9 before Acting Police Justice Robert Schirmer.

Judge Schirmer reserved decision early in August on a motion of Hain's attorney Joshua N. Koplovitz seeking dismissal of the information on the grounds that the local law, Section 4D, is unconstitutional. Postponement had been granted until Sept. 2 to permit time to submit a memorandum of law. Hain had been released in the custody of his attorney.

Hain was arrested July 25 at the site of the Sound Festival on the Copeland farm at Shultis Corners, Town of Saugerties, and charged with violation of the local law in that he permitted an assemblage of more than 200 without a town permit required under the law.

Section 4D permits the governing body to make a determination whether or not such an assembly would create a public or private nuisance. The Town Board denied the permit on that basis.

Missing Girl Found at Home Of Friends

ELLENVILLE — Ellenville Village police found 14-year old Bonnie Hoffberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoffberg at 10:40 Thursday morning. The girl had been reported missing at 9 p.m. Wednesday night.

Police said the girl was found at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Travis of Terrace Heights, just outside of Ellenville. The Travis family was reportedly a friend of the girl and she stayed over night without telling anyone.

Visit Mayor - - lack of lights, the need for a new shopping area, drug stores, laundromats but the crux of the problem seemed to be that Downtowners feel they're being ignored.

"It's like the city line ends at St. Mary's Church, "one man said. "No one seems to know we're down here. No one seems to care."

Eddie Parker, a member of the urban renewal agency, acted as spokesman for the group at the meeting with the mayor in the Council Chambers at City Hall. Parker read a list of "demands" from the advisory board, among them a demand to employ black persons on urban renewal construction (at least 25 per cent); the demand for more black police officers and the promotion of those now on the force; the demand for lighting on Broadway or the closing down of the project and the closing down of 24 Abeel Street, described as a "disgrace," and the relocation of its tenants.

Koenig said he was meeting with the urban renewal agency this afternoon, the police commissioners tonight and that Central Hudson had already agreed to hook up temporary lighting from Rogers Street to Ferry Street on Broadway.

Youth Charged With Shoplifting

A 16-year-old youth was arrested Wednesday on a charge of petit larceny accused of the theft of an 8-track stereo tape at Britt's store in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

William J. Brandt of 119 Hunter Street was scheduled for arraignment before City Judge Hubert A. Richter. The arrest was made by Edward Coughlin, a security officer at the store. The tape was titled "Santana" and valued at $6.95.

Award $98,500 Pact For Work at Paltz

ALBANY — Helmer-Cronin Construction, Inc. of Stony Point has been awarded a $98,500 contract covering interior work required for construction of a Graphics Laboratory in the Communications and Lecture Hall Building at the State University College at New Paltz, Governor Rockefeller announced today.

David Todd and Associates of New York are the architects on the project, which is scheduled for completion by about Dec. 11, 1970. The work consists of partitioning and finishing off basement space in the building to provide facilities for graphics and photographic laboratories and media services. Steel stud and gypsum board partitions are to be erected; new hung ceilings, both acoustic tile and gypsum board type, and new vinyl asbestos tile and epoxy floors are to be provided.

The Al Greene Electrical Contractors, Inc. of Newburgh will execute the electrical work called for by the contract, while C. B. Strain and Sons, Inc. of Poughkeepsie, will carry out the plumbing and heating, ventilating and air conditioning which will include duct work and some packaged air conditioning units.

Current construction at New Paltz, valued at $7.2 million is part of the State University's multibillion dollar physical development program directed by the State University Construction Fund, headed by Dr. Anthony G. Adinolfi, general manager. This public benefit corporation was established in 1962 by the Legislature upon the recommendation of Gov. Rockefeller to expedite the construction of facilities to meet the State University's Master Plan requirements.

Mexican-American Friendship

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A big parade, pickets and a crowd officials predict will reach 100,000 are expected to greet President Nixon and Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz in this seaside city late today.

The two presidents and 700 VIP guests including former President Lyndon B. Johnson were gathering for a White House-style state dinner Nixon is giving Diaz Ordaz tonight in a display of Mexican-American friendship.

Decorations, bleachers and welcoming signs were up and 65 marching units were poised for the parade, along with beauty queens and horse riders.

City officials have been working hard to make this a warm welcome with a big turnout and all the ceremonial trappings to celebrate California's bicentennial as well as the visit of the presidents.

Hundreds of free buses were put into service all over the county and down to the border town of Tijuana to bring visitors to this community of 16,000.

The normal 60-cent toll on the new $47 million Coronado Bay Bridge was cut to 10 cents or one peso for the day. Mexican currency was being accepted for the first time on the span that links San Diego and the Coronado Peninsula.

Nixon's bubbletop limousine was brought in for his 1½-mile motorcade, timed to follow the parade after noontime arrival ceremonies at North Island Naval Air Station.

Nixon planned to helicopter from the Western White House at San Clemente some 60 miles away after a morning meeting with the six members of the Senate Finance Committee.

He is seeking the committee's aid in moving his stalled family assistance welfare plan to a Senate vote and invited them to come out for the dinner at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style, 400-room Hotel del Coronado here.

Diaz Ordaz, with a party of 25, including his daughter, was flying in from Mexico City for a reunion with Nixon, whom he met at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, two weeks ago.

Preparations were made for an elaborate four-course meal, with three wines to be served in the hotel's elegant Crown Room.

The U.S. Marine Band from Washington and the 56-member student "Grupo Folklorico" from the University of Guadalajara in Mexico were to entertain.

Members of an antiwar Mexican-American activist group and an organization of "Yippies" announced they planned to picket outside while the presidential guests dined.

No Wrongdoing Found in Drive To Raise Anti-Indo-China War Chest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has told Sen. Barry Goldwater it found no wrongdoing on the part of antiwar senators who raised nearly $500,000 to rally public support for legislation designed to end U.S. participation in the Indochina war.

In a letter to the Arizona Republican, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said the department was "unable to make a determination" that federal laws were violated in raising and spending the money.

Goldwater, who asked for a legal opinion on the propriety of fund-raising activities of the Committee To End The War, was not immediately available for comment.

Kleindienst, who was Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign manager, said the department's investigation had turned up no evidence of wrongdoing "based on the facts that are available at this time."

A Justice Department spokesman read excerpts of the letter to a reporter but refused to release the full text. He said Kleindienst's statement did not necessarily mean the investigation was closed.

The Committee To End the War, a coalition of dovish senators and others in the antiwar movement, sponsored a televised appeal last May for money to push the so-called McGovern-Hatfield "amendment to end the war." The committee's advertising urged citizens to voice their support for the amendment by writing to their senators and congressmen.

The amendment requiring withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam by the end of 1971 was defeated Tuesday in the Senate.

Senator George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who along with Senator Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., was the amendment's principal sponsor, placed a statement in the Aug. 11 issue of the Congressional Record showing that the appeal had raised $492,000. By that date, McGovern said, the committee had spent $280,000 on television, radio and newspaper advertising.

Goldwater had asked the department to determine whether the committee had violated either conflict of interest laws or tax laws. The hawkish senator also sought an opinion on whether the committee should register as a lobbying group.

With reference to the latter request, Kleindienst said that "the Supreme Court has made it plain that the present (lobbying) act is not applicable to an indirect attempt to influence Congress."

McGovern, in a Senate speech August 21, maintained that "we have neither violated any laws nor jeopardized a proper sense of ethics and propriety. We have accounted for every penny received or disbursed and have published our reports in the Congressional Record."

He maintained Goldwater's request for an investigation was an attempt to discredit the amendment.

Village Board Of Red Hook To Meet Tuesday

RED HOOK

The Board of Trustees, Village of Red Hook, will meet Tuesday instead of Monday next week due to Labor Day.

The regular 7:30 p.m. meeting will be preceeded by a public hearing on the proposed contract with the Red Hook Fire Department, to begin at 7 p.m.

The Fire Department is asking an approximate $800 a year hike in appropriations from the village from $4,823 to $5,642.91. The rejuest is in the form of a two-year contract.

State law requires the public hearing. The Village Board may not alter the figure alloted the fire company after it has been approved following the hearing.

The Tivoli Village Board meeting has also been rescheduled for Tuesday evening. Offers on the Tivoli Acres real estate will be opened at this meeting.

The main order of business during the meeting will be concerned with an assessment to help maintain the lodge.

After the business the lodge will be host to the members of the Masons Babe Ruth League Team.

The team, under the management of Brother Clifford Snyder won the 1970 Championship. For several recent years, the Masons team has been highly successful in their league. All lodge members are urged to attend this event to honor these boys for their efforts and success.

Little Gardens Group Slates Fall Session

SAUGERTIES

The first fall meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will be held Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 1:30 p.m. in the first floor meeting room of the Congregational Church on Main Street.

The program will be "Gardens of Other Lands," a slide program presented by Mrs. Morris Rosenblum of her visits to gardens in Europe.

Stone Ridge Story Hour to Start Oct. 7

STONE RIDGE

A successful six-week story hour, conducted by Mrs. John Cross, has just been completed for 30 young children.

Mid-Hudson Libraries provided films on various subjects for the summer program. Mrs. Cross will again hold story hour for pre-schoolers, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 7, from 10-11 a.m. in the story room of the Stone Ridge Library.

William Walton is allowing the library to use the barn in the rear of the library property for a used book sale to be held on Saturday, Aug. 29, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A large variety of books will be on sale including fiction, non-fiction, religious, poetry, in hard cover as well as paper-backs. The proceeds of the sale will go towards the operating costs of the library, and the purchase of new books.

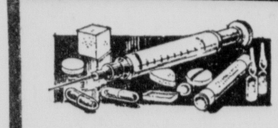

Among the new books on the shelves is Superhighway-Superhoax, by Mrs. Helen Leavitt. A highly indignant book by a lady who is threatened by a highway going through her living room.

The movie of the month for Senior Citizens is shown on the first Wednesday of each month at the library. Refreshments are served. Time is 7 to 8 p.m. All Senior Citizens may attend.

Policeman Gets Tip

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—A policeman led a confused motorist to the highway he sought and received a letter of thanks and a contribution destined for the local Police Benevolent Association.

Motorist Robert C. Ivory of Jamesville said Patrolman Louis T. Giardino used "courtesy and tenderness" in earning the donation, amount not disclosed, for the police organization.

Infirmary Program Aided by Sales at County Fair

KINGSTON

"The Occupational and Diversiona. Therapy Program of the Kingston Infirmary and Infirmary Annex received the warm support of the public at the recent Ulster County Fair in New Paltz permitting it to further operate this invaluable patient program during the ensuing year," it was announced today by a spokesman of the Ulster County Department of Social Services, the Infirmary program and by the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, sponsors of the Patient Fair program.

"Over $250 was realized from the purchase by many fair visitors of the countless attractive gifts made by the patients," they noted.

"Many of these were made under considerable difficulty by seriously afflicted patients, and yet represented a wide selection of craft and art forms. The generous sale income from the Patient Service exhibit will again return to the support of the program, and has a beneficial stimulating effect on the patients who participate in the program," it was pointed out.

The Patient Services Booth program was developed by Charles Tarsia, Infirmary Therapy Program teacher; E. Robert Johnson, TB-RD Association's executive director; through the aid of Mrs. Dorothy Gunzelmann, R.N., nursing director, Kingston Infirmary; Mrs. Elnora McSpirit, R.N., nursing director, Infirmary Annex and with the aid of Mrs. Dora Mollenhauer, TB Association director, and member of the director, and member of the therapy aide staff; Miss Almena Porter, R.N., and Miss Mabel Robinson, R.N., TB Association program volunteers.

Continuing Therapy Program

The therapy program is a continuing year-round service for the patients at both Infirmary sites, serviced by Tarsia, and aided by a volunteer therapy staff which also includes: Mrs. Elnora McSpirit, R.N., Mrs. Eva Edwards, Mrs. Robert Ackert, Mrs. Katherine Van-Allen, Mrs. Otto Weaver, Mrs. Dora Mollenhauer, Mrs. Eleanor Poythress, Mrs. John Sorenson, Mrs. Rose Budik, Mrs. John Wolfersteig, Mrs Gladys Hornbeck, Mrs. John Spoor, Mrs. Eve Oskay, Miss Adiska Conro, Miss Bertha Waterman, Mrs. Edward Hereth and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

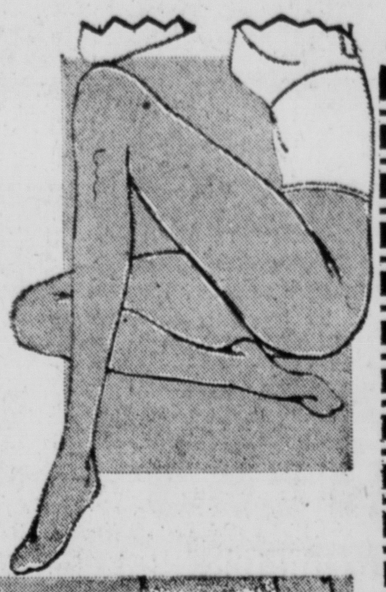

The Patient Service display was manned by an effective staff of Infirmary volunteers and TB-RD Association Program volunteers including Mrs. Dora Mollenhauer of Tillson, Mrs. Eve Oskay and Mrs. William Porter of Port Ewen; Mrs. Arthur Brown of Hurley; Miss Bertha Waterman, Miss Adiska Conro, Mrs. Elnora McSpirit, R.N.; Mrs. Robert Ackert, Mrs. Katherine Van Allen, Mrs. Gladys Hornbeck Mrs. John Spoor, Mrs. Margaret Bigler, Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. John Sorenson of Kingston; Mrs. Marie V. Request for Traffic Signal At Tillson Denied by State

By NANCY SULLIVAN
ROSENDALE

A request for a traffic control signal on Route 32 at the Tillson Post Office, an area "well signed" and "well lighted" has been denied by the State.

In a letter from Assemblyman H. Clark Bell read at Wednesday night's Rosendale Town Board meeting, Bell stated that at the intersection there were effective signs and lights and during the school year there is a crossing guard on duty, eliminating the need of a traffic control signal.

Although the letter did agree that the area becomes congested during the evening with people stopping at the Post Office, Bell suggested that parking be restricted.

According to Town Justice Wilfred Doolittle, effective Sept. 1, the town has the power to install the light at its own cost. Town Supervisor Gerard Defelicis said that he felt the state should bear the cost, which would amount to about $7,000.

The Rosendale Nordic Ski Club requested funds from the Town Board for instruction in Nordic skiing. In the past, the town has allotted money for Alpine ski instruction held once a week.

Councilman Karl Strobel explained that the club is requesting cross-country ski instruction and said he would look into the matter. He said the program was "well used" last year.

A lengthy discussion ensued involving a request by a local snowmobile club for information concerning the rules and regulations of snowmobiles driven on town roads.

The club wants permission to use all roads in the Town of Rosendale. According to Town Attorney Martin Tully, this could be an added liability to the town. One resident commented as to why not a sign reading "Watch out for snowmobiles."

Regulations of snowmobiles are under the jurisdiction of the Conservation Department. An official of the department informed the town supervisor that more information concerning snowmobiles should be available next month.

A resolution was passed to install a light on Elting Road where the old cider mill was located.

Supervisor Defelicis told board members that he had witnessed an accident there several weeks ago when a pedestrian was hit by a car. The area is very dark and the board agreed that a light should be installed.

Another accident on River Road will send two board members and the highway superintendent out to investigate the scene.

According to the resident involved in the accident, her tires went off the road when she tried to make room for an oncoming car. The shoulder of the road is much lower than the road itself and the tires got caught and her car went into several guard posts which were "very weak." The area is very dark and a driver cannot judge the distance to his right because there is no white border along the side of the road.

At a public hearing prior to the Wednesday night's board meeting, the Town Board unanimously adopted a Code of Ethics to establish standards of conduct for officers and employes of the town and also a second local law to establish a Board of Ethics composed of three members to be appointed by the Town Board to serve without pay. Appointments to this Board of Ethics will be made at a later date.

Councilman Strobel reported that there will be an organizational meeting to establish a basketball league for men 18 years and over at the Town Clerk's office on Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. for town residents. According to him, there are already enough interested persons to form three teams. Those interested should contact Councilman Strobel or Richard Chatham.

The Town of Rosendale has constables in "number but not availability," according to Supervisor Defelicis. Two constables were appointed, following the resignation of one. M. Gule of the New York State Correction Department and John Coddington were appointed.

The town is presently looking into benefits for members of the Highway Department.

Paltz Sr. Citizens May Get Good News

By JON POWERS
NEW PALTZ

New Paltz senior citizens may get some good news in the near future, if the town, village and Board of Education agree to raise the minimum income required for partial tax exemption.

At the recent meeting of the Village Board, it was disclosed that town and village officials had discussed the possibility of raising from $3,000 to $5,000 the minimum yearly income of senior citizens in order to allow a greater number of residents to share in a 50 per cent real estate tax exemption.

At present, senior citizens earning up to $3,000 are required to pay only half the normal amount for school, town and village tax purposes. New York State has recently permitted local governments to raise that minimum standrad to $5,000, providing all local tax collecting agencies agree.

It is reported that the town and village favor the proposal and that they will be meeting with school board officials in the near future to finalize the plan. But village officials would not predict what kind of response they would receive from the School Board.

In other items, it was reported that the village sewerage treatment plant is "nearly 50 per cent complete," and that the project is about one month ahead of schedule. Village Clerk Wilbur Fredenburgh told The Freeman that the plant could conceivably be completed by December.

Earlier, an agreement between the village and Town of New Paltz was announced, permitting the town to use the facilities at the new plant. Although the agreement cannot go into effect until the plant is completed, engineering studies will be undertaken by the town to establish a sewer district for town residents.

With completion date of the new treatment plant drawing closer, the village has agreed to allocate $300 to send James Whalen, future sewer plant operator, to a sewer plant operator's school at New York University. The 11-day program will be held this fall and one-third of the amount will be reimbursed by the state.

New plans for the proposed village garage have been ordered, with addition of a two-cell overnight jail included. Earlier bids for additions to the garage have been rejected by the Village Board.

Village Police Chief James Walrath reported to the board that the village's two new police cars have arrived and are in operation. It was further added that attempts will be made to induce patrolmen to take better care of the autos so that mechanical troubles will be kept at a minimum.

In other business concerning the Police Department, the Village Board voted to allocate funds to send patrolman John Savago to the Police Academy for training sessions.

In final business at the recent meeting, the board announced adoption of a code of ethics for town employes and board members. The board, according to reports, adopted the same model code that had been recommended by the state.

Orange Blossoms and Rice for Radiant Brides

Miss Kathleen Jane Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Weber of 108 Emerson Street, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows with James Peter Boyd, son of Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton Boyd of 145 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, on Saturday, Aug. 29 at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass. Organist Ann Goldrick accompanied Hugh Carey, uncle of the bride, who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangments of gladioli, white daisies, ferns, and stephanotis decorated the altar.

MRS. JAMES PETER BOYD
(Photo Workshop)

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white, floor-length gown of silk-faced linen. The modified cowl neckline and fitted bodice were accented with paneled pleats and the back skirt terminated in a court length self-train. A white daisy flowered cap accented with pearls held her bouffant elbow-length veil and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and stephanotis, centered on her mother's wedding prayer book.

Miss Maureen Weber, sister of the bride, Kingston, was maid of honor in a sleeveless crepe shocking pink gown, fashioned with a flowing circular skirt. A matching lattice camelot cap with shocking pink flower clusters served as her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white daisies with hot pink centers.

Glenn Newnan of New Jersey was best man. Ushers were Michael Weber, brother of the bride, and Robert Walker, both of Kingston.

A reception for 100 guests was held at Wiltwyck Country Club, Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride selected a pink knit dress and coat with white accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula. She Attended Elizabeth Seton Jr. College and Ulster County Community College. Her husband attended Manlius Military School, Hoosac Preparatory School and was graduated from Kingston High School. He is a senior at Long Island University and plans to study law after graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will reside at Brooklyn.

Miss Sharon Louise Quick of Ypsilanti, Mich., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent R. Quick, Kerhonkson, exchanged nuptial vows with James Michael Klark, son of Mrs. Frank Klark of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the late Frank Klark, on Sunday, Aug. 23 at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Kerhonkson.

The Rev. John Budwick officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Joanne Brudniak, cousin of the bride, accompanied Wayne Mabie, another cousin of the bride, who sang traditional wedding selections. Vases of gladioli and yellow carnations decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride slected a Chantilly lace gown delicately woven with seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with a portrait neckline and colonial sleeves which were edged with hand sewn lace trailing to her cathedral train. A lace cluster crown of pearls and crystals held her illusion veil and she carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with ivy and dracaena sanderiana.

MRS. JAMES M. KLARK
(Dels photo)

Mrs. James Ham, sister of the bridegroom, Wantaugh, L.I. was matron of honor in an empire gown of maize dotted swiss over organdy with full long sleeves, featuring daisy lace on the neckline and cuffs. A maize illusion veil accented with daisies served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies with deffenbachia leaves.

Miss Virginia Rose Brudniak, cousin of the bride, Kingston, and Miss Paula LaRooso, Kerhonkson, served as bridesmaids. Their gowns, headpieces and bouquets were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendants.

John Blackburn III of Ypsilanti, Mich. was best man. Ushers were James Ham III, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Wantaugh, L.I.; and Richard Quick, brother of the bride, Kerhonskon.

A reception was held at Patroon Grange Hall, in Accord, for 80 guests.

For her wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, and Ohio, the bride selected a maize linen sheath dress with stand-up collar trimmed in white lace, with white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Rondout Valley Central School, class of 1964, received her BS in Special Education for Mentally Handicapped from Eastern Michigan University, and teaches at Ypsilanti High School. Her husband, an alumnus of Purcell High School in Cincinnati, and Culver Naval Academy, served four years with the U.S. Navy, and is employed as an electrician and studying electronic technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Klark will reside at 1124 West Michigan Avenue, Apt. 24, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Miss Cheryl Lynne Walker daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Walker of Sawkill Road, Kingston, became the bride of Peter James Scott, Essex Junction, Vt., son of Mrs Mildred Scott, Winter Park, Fla., Saturday, Aug. 22 at Old Dutch Church in Kingston.

The Rev. Daniel Martinez of United Methodist Church in Windham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Steven Connell, organist, accompanied the bride's mother who sang traditional wedding selections. Basket arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altar.

MRS. PETER J. SCOTT
(Artcraft Camera)

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an ice-blue chiffon over white dacron crepe gown, fashioned with a high neckline and triple bracelet sleeves trimmed with wide embroidered lace. Her mantilla with blush veil was bordered with delicate lace and fastened to a bow of wide embroidered lace matching her gown. She carried a simplicity bouquet of white gladioli with phalenopsis orchids.

Debra Walker of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister in a light blue chiffon over blue dacron crepe gown, styled with white lace beading threaded with narrow blue velvet ribbon. A matching lace and velvet bow served as her headpiece and she carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli with blue ribbon.

Carol Scott of Winter Park, Fla., sister of the bridegroom; Cathy Coles, Lincoln Park, cousin of the bride; and Susan Emerick, Holiday Lane, both of Kingston, served as attendants. Their gowns and bouquets were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant's in yellow, pastel green and lavender respectively.

Stacy Walker, sister of the bride, was flower girl in a pink chiffon over pink dacron crepe gown with short puffed sleeves. She carried a basket of white gladioli accented with pink ribbon.

David Scott of Essex Junction, Vt. was best man for his brother. Ushers were John M. Walker Jr., Kingston, brother of the bride; Alvin Rumble of Saugerties; and Elliot Greenblot of Burlington, Vt.

A garden reception was held at the home of the bride for 150 guests. The wedding cake was designed and made by the bride's sister, Debra Walker.

For her wedding trip up the New England coast to Maine, the bride chose a flower print dress with an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1965, and attended Hope College, Holland, Mich. Her husband was graduated from Essex Junctiontion High School, class of 1965, and Johnson State College in Vermont, class of 1969, where he was awarded his BS in Bio-Chemistry.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott will reside at Onteora Trail, Kingston.

Ziegler-Leonardi Nuptials Announced

Miss Julie Ziegler of Saugerties exchanged marriage vows with Frederick Leonardi of Long Island on Saturday, Aug. 1.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Kaufman officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass at St. Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties. Mrs. Mary Bunyar, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of daisies and carnations decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ziegler of 19 Elizabeth Street, Saugerites. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Leonardi of Northport, L.I.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full skirted gown specially designed and made of crepe satin with detachable train. The empire look was enhanced by appliqued guipure lace of gentile crusty motifs flowing to two front panels. The sleeves of the gown were puffed with a high cuff of mirumist, matching her petal pointed train. The crown of silk petaled beaded pearls was attached to a three tiered shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of cascading white carnations mixed with white orchids.

Miss Lois Ponko of Saugerties The attendants' in an empire style gown of sky blue crepe, fashioned with short puffed sleeves trimmed with white lace. Her bouquet of white daisies was accented with blue satin streamers.

Attendants were Miss Marie Ziegler, sister of the bride, escorted by Thomas Del Franco of the Bronx, cousin of the bride; Miss Kathy Ziegler, sister of the bride; escorted by Charles Tyler of Saugerties; Miss Cindy Tyler of Saugerties, escorted by Michael Andrews of Kingston; and Mrs. Blanche Kellerhouse of West Hurley, escorted by William Simmons of Saugerties. The attendants' gowns and daisy headpieces were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant's in pink, lavender, chartreuse, and yellow, respectively. They carried bouquets of white daisies with satin ribbons to match their gowns.

A reception for 120 guests was held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

The bride and bridegroom wore matching "his and hers" outfits for their wedding trip to Nasau in the Bahamas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonardi will reside in Northport, L.I.

Saugerties Benefit Planned

The annual auction for the financial benefit of the Community Service Fund of Saugerties Democratic Club will again be held at American Legion on John Street, Saugerties, on Saturday, Oct. 3 beginning at 1 p.m.

All persons interested in attending the auction may view the merchandise from 10 a.m. until noon that day at that location. In case of inclement weather, all activities will be held indoors.

Items will include lamps; luggage, bed spreads; quilts; a Boston rocker; clocks, electric, wind and travel; sleeping bags; stroller; Cosco high chair; car seats; jumpers, play pen; toys; plus a number of conversation pieces.

Since the start of this fund, the Club has been able to help many unfortunate victims of fires. Proceeds also have provided the annual scholarship awards to a high school graduate, as well as charitable donations during the holiday season, and many projects arranged for senior citizens.

Mrs. G. Thomas Rea, chairman, invites the public to attend the auction for a day of entertianment while being part of a worthy endeavor.

Free Meat Buying Guide

In a major step to assist New York State homemakers in intelligent meat purchases, the State Department of Agriculture and Markets is now distributing a free laminated meat buying guide.

In announcing the guide, Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham explained the new consumer aid would assist the housewife in learning all primal cuts of beef, pork, lamb and veal. The diagrams also list the more common cuts obtained from each of the primal cuts.

Further, the charts also suggest preferable means of cooking each cut, Commissioner Wickham said.

The charts, which are in color, follow the identification standards established by the National Meat and Livestock Board.

The buying guide, made in a handy size to be carried in purse or wallet, is being distributed at the Department's Division of Food Control Exhibit at the New York State Fair in Syracuse, through September 7, and copies may also be picked up at offices of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets in New York City, and the Regional Meat Inspection offices of the Department in Rochester, Buffalo, Glens Falls and Poughkeepsie. Also at the Marketing office of the Department in Riverhead, Long Island.

Single copies may be obtained without charge by writing "Meat Buying Guide," State Department of Agriculture and Markets, Albany, New York 12226.

Series of Digits Determine Freshness of Foods

EDITOR'S NOTE — Which came first, these eggs or those eggs? The carton numbered 4254 or the carton marked 2252. It used to be that only your grocer knew for sure. But now a lot of consumers are demanding to be let in on the secret. Following is a report on the coding of foods by AP's Living Today department.

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Nestled neatly row on row on grocery shelves, one box of medium Grade A eggs looks like all the others. The question is, however, "which box is freshest?"

The grocer and the supermarket clerk can tell quite easily by reading the codes on meat, butter, eggs, poultry, produce and other perishables which tell how long a product has been on the shelf.

But it is a rare housewife, indeed, who can crack the cryptic code.

This is the way it usually works: Find the four digit numbers stamped on a package. The sum of the first and last digits corresponds to the number of the month of the year. The middle two digits indicate the day of the month. Thus Aug. 25, would be 4254. If the code is underlined, it's the day the eggs were packaged. If not, it's the day they should be removed from the cooler.

Or maybe it's the day they were laid.

Few shoppers appear to know a coding system of freshness exists at all. But almost all the 8,000 or so items in a typical supermarket are coded in various forms. Many grocers know the codes and have instructions from retailers not to offer "crib" sheets to the customers. But sometimes even the most seasoned grocers can't figure them out.

But there's no uniformity in the coding. In a large food chain in Detroit, the day the bread is baked is marked by a colored tie on the package. The tie colors change daily.

In a Cleveland grocery, a package of Swiss cheese marked 0365 means it was packaged the 365th day of the year. But some weeks they reverse this and a package marked 0365 means it was packaged on January 1.

The food industry argues the codes protect the consumer while consumer advocates insist the codes confuse the customer who has a right to know the quality of the food he's buying.

"With prices the way they are and with food taking such a huge cut out of everyone's income, naturally the customer wants to be sure he gets what he pays for," said Erma Angevine, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America.

"Why shouldn't the customer know what he's buying?" asked Frank Pollock, assistant to the director of the Consumer's Union which publishes Consumer's Report. 'It's an insult to the consumer to pick up a package and not be able to read all the information on it."

If the consumer did know, food industry officials contend, he would buy only the freshest food. As a result, they say, perfectly good, high quality goods — though not as fresh — would go to waste, thus driving up the prices.

"Take milk," said Wayne Warrington, public affairs director of the National Association of Food Chains.

"Usually, milk sells so fast that you have a three-day turnover. But if it is stored properly in a refrigerator that is not opened and closed, and has no temperature or humidity change, it can be just as good and tasty and nutritious after three or four weeks."

Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs, has supported a standardized system of coding so consumers can walk into any stores and understand the packaging system.

"We're chiding the food industry for its failure to develop proper microbiological standards so all manufacturers will agree on the same date to pull the items off the shelves," said Frank McLaughlin, director of Industry Relations in Mrs. Knauer's office.

Last spring 57 congressmen proposed a bill to require "open dating" on all perishables. Under this proposed legislation, the date the item should be removed from the shelf would be stamped on the label. A spokesman from the office of one of the bills' sponsors, Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., said, "Right now it (the bill) is just sitting on ice. We don't expect much to happen for a while."

The Department of Agriculture recently released a study of nine European countries with comprehensive standardized coding systems which indicated that under the new system customers continued to buy all the food, not only the freshest, and prices did not soar.

Food chains around the country are wrestling with the problem of how to meet the consumer's demands for a comprehensive coding system. Jewel Co. of Chicago and Stop 'N' Shop of Boston last month placed code translating booklets in all their supermarkets.

Safeway, Inc., the huge supermarket chain, for years has "open dated" all the foods it processes. Now it's asking its retailers to do the same. Several other chains have signs on their supermarket walls with instructions on how to understand the codes.

"There's clearly movement in the industry," said James Turner, a supermarket researcher with Ralph Nader's Center for Responsive Law in Washington, D.C.

"Open dating will be a reality very soon," he predicted. "Some of the big companies are getting into it now. The rest will have to follow."

Saugerties Woman's Club Slates Tour

TOUR OF HOMES—Mrs. William Kendall, right, and Miss Karen Rightmyer check information on "Kiersted House," one of the five homes to be featured in the Saugerties Tour of Homes scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 12. Members of Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 152 will act as guides, pointing out items of particular interest and giving pertinent information in each of the homes. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Final arrangements are being made this week for the Saugerties "Tour of Homes" to take place Saturday, Sept. 12 from noon to 4 p.m. The Tour is being co-sponsored by the Woman's Club of Saugerties and Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 152. A total of five homes are included in the Tour, and may be visited in any order desired.

Among homeowners participating in the Tour are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Cody, whose home is an excellent example of modern architecture. Two pre-revolutionary stone houses will also be open: "Mynderse House", now owned by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Remensnyder, and "Kiersted House", now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele.

Saugerties as a community came into being because of its promixity to the Hudson, and the picturesque grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Glunt afford an excellent view of the River. Victorian architecture is also popular in Saugerties, and the Robert Cline home is a lovely tribute to this style.

At the Dutch Arms Chapel, several activities are planned. Refreshments will be served at no further charge to all persons attending the Tour. A festive boutique of interesting items has been arranged by the Senior Scouts, and the League of Women Voters will have their booklet of the history of Saugerties available. Pastor Orville Hine will conduct informal tours of the Chapel and the Reformed Church. Also, Mandeville Diaz has agreed to display some of his vast collection of Civil War items.

Mrs. Thomas Zulick and Mrs. Joseph LaSusa are serving as general co-chairmen for the Tour, with the following committees and chairmen: Mrs. Richard Redder, homes; Mrs. William Kendall, Miss Karen Rightmyer, and Miss Nancy Mehlich, guides and hostesses; Mrs. Patrick Buonfiglio and Miss Ruth Wyman, tickets; Mrs. Brian Sawchuk and Miss Maria Rinaldi, refreshments; Mrs. Jerome Milosek and Miss Jeanne Snyder, boutique; and Mrs. Walter Stolte, posters.

Tickets for the Tour of Homes are available at the following business establishmments: Montano's Shoe Store, Jacob's Men's Shop, Joseph's Beauty Salon, Plaza Hair Stylists, London's Kingston store, and Nugent's in Kingston Plaza. A limited number of tickets may be available at the Chapel on the day of the Tour, but advance ticket purchases are advised. The tickets have been printed courtesy of the McConekey and Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Homes in Saugerties.

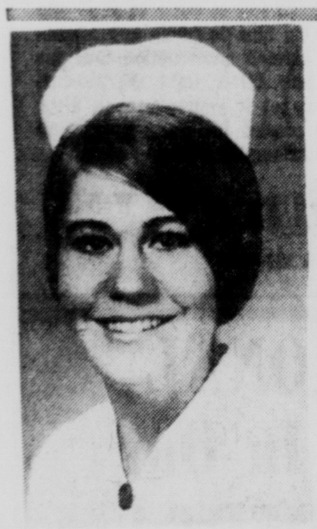

All proceeds from the Tour will benefit Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 152.

30th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dolan of 26 Harding Avenue, Kingston, celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Aug. 30. A dinner was given in honor of the occasion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rider in Red Hook. Mr. Rider is the former Mayor of the Village of Red Hook.

Among those attending the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mattia of Kingston who had served as attendants in the wedding party 30 years ago.

Also attending were Miss Virginia Van Black of Rhinebeck and John Rider Jr.

MISS LINDA E. GEIPEL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Joseph Geipel Route 4, Box 96, Saugerties received her diploma from the Albany Medical Center School of Nursing on August 23 in Chancellors Hall.

Famed Horse Breeding Farm Purchased by Julie Miron

YONKERS — Sale of White Devon Farm to Julie Miron of Great Neck, N.Y. for an undisclosed sum has been announced by the executors of the estate of the late Martin Tannenbaum and Miron.

The sale, reported to be a multi-million dollar transaction, includes all the assets of the farm located in Geneseo, a village 20 miles south of Rochester.

White Devon Farm is considered by most persons in the industry as the leading standardbred breeding complex in the east.

Among the top grade stallions at White Devon Farm are: Thorpe Hanover, Greentree Adios, Adora's Dream, Trowbridge, Tactile, Great Lullwater and Egyptian Candor.

The farm boasts probably the finest assembly of Adios mares in existence among its outstanding band of broodmares and has consigned its crop of 49 well-bred yearlings to the fall Old Glory Sales at Yonkers Raceway, beginning Oct. 26.

Included among the yearlings are 15 by Thorpe Hanover, 9 by Andora's Dream, 9 by Greentree Adios, 8 by Great Lullwater, 4 by Egyptian Condor; two by Sharpshooter and one each by Rodilo and Silver Song.

All of the 1970 yearlings are eligible for next year's $3,000,000 New York Sires Stakes.

The farm was founded in 1965 by the late Martin Tannenbaum, president of Yonkers Raceway and has produced an impressive number of stakes winners from its offspring.

The farm is managed by Harry Moss, whom Miron has retained as general manager to insure the continuation of the quality of the White Devon operation to service the harness racing industry.

Miron is founder and president of the Miron organization of companies which are New York's leading distributors of lumber, ready-mix concrete, millwork, masonry material and an entire range of other building materials and accessories.

Companies in the Miron conglomerate include Miron Building Products at Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Brooklyn; Island Dock Lumber, Kingston; Van Voorhis Industries, Fishkill; Hudson Valley Block and Catskill-Miron Ready Mix.

He is also a prominent developer of commercial and industrial real estate in the upstate New York area. Miron has been active in both standard bred and thoroughbred racing for more than 30 years. He is a principal of Standardbred Brokerage Corp. and Thoroughbred Service Corp., the East's largest insurance brokers of racing and breeding bloodstock.

Miron's interest in standardbred extends many years as a patron and associate of the Vernon Dancer Stable. He is a partner as well in the thoroughbred stallion, Boldnescian, currently the best producing son of famed Bold Ruler.

JULIE MIRON (R) presents winning clock trophy to Mrs. Rachel Dancer as Stanley Dancer steadies Most Happy Fella following the colt's victory in the $102,770 Cane Futurity Pace recently at Yonkers Raceway.

Jim Palkowics Is Top Gunner

Bill Costello led the skeet shoot with an .820 average. Bernie Moore posted .773, Tom Bernardini .760.

Mike Pirro led the junior trapshooters with .600. Benny Zaccheo had .440, Kevin Dugan .320.

Wunderbar Is That At Monticello

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Penney's Wunderbar was just that at Monticello Raceway Wednesday evening putting together a 2:06 3-5 mile in the third race to beat Ken's Question by one - half length and claim the evening's largest return in New York State Harness racing.

The winner paid $41.40 for the honor. Something Blue paced his way to the show share of the $1,500 purse.

At Batavia Downs, Clara Belle rang a few bells for bettors trotting her way to a 2:09 1-5 mile in the featured seventh race. Clara Belle edged by Lord Kaiser in the stretch and held on to win by a nose and return $36.20. The purse was worth $1,800.

The show horse was Mr. Parish who started as the favorite.

At other tracks across the state, the payoffs were smaller, but the interest no less. Freedom Barry led all the way at Vernon Downs to take the $2,800 eighth race, a pace.

Freedom Barry paid off at $7.60 with Yankee Target trailing by 1½ lengths and Scotch Lobell further back. The time of the race was 2:02 4-5.

Chancy Mac Dee won the $1,000 Saratoga Raceway feature, the ninth race, pacing the mile in 2:07 flat for a length victory over Ozzie Adios.

Chester Lady was third. The winner paid $4.40.

At Yonkers Raceway the feaure pace went to Pirate Hanover, in 2:04. The 10 - year - old paid $12.60 beating Bright Mir and Stormy George. The purse was $3,500.

Kennedy-Rusk Team Is Winner

Harry Kennedy and Mrs. George Rusk carded a net 68 to win first place in the annual Sadie Hawkins Day tournament for men and women at the Woodstock Country Club. Many of the players wore costumes.

Kennedy shot 38 on his own ball and Mrs. Rusk had 43 in the nine-hole, 80 per cent handicap event.

Tied for the runnerup spot with net 78s were the teams of Claude Needes and Mrs. Wiggie DeLisio (94-16) and Anthony Pizzarelli and Mrs. Allen Dean Elwyn (90-12); and Ray Morse and Mrs. Gifford Morey (96-18).

Three other teams were deadlocked at net 80: Joseph Fitzsimmons — Mrs. Floyd DeWitt (98-18); Walter Van Wagenen — Mrs. Arnold Broggi (94-14); Dr. Arnold Broggi — Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen (94-14).

For the Amazin' Mets

Looks Like '69 All Over Again

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

It's beginning to look like 1969 all over again for the New York Mets who don't believe the age of baseball miracles ended with the start of the 1970s.

The Mets have been counted out of the 1970 National League's East Division race since spring training but here it is September and they are only a half-game behind the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates after a 7-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

What's more important from the Mets' point of view is that the two big heroes of 1969 — Tommie Agee and Tom Seaver —combined Wednesday night in their latest triumph.

Agee had two hits, drove in two runs and scored two to lead the Mets' offense while Seaver, who had lost six of seven previous decisions went the distance with a 10-hitter to raise his record to 18-10. Another reason for optimism is that the Mets were five games out of first place a year ago compared to their current deficit of a half game.

"We did the same thing as we're doing now about a year ago this time," said Agee after Wednesday night's victory. "This look like the same as last year."

Seaver, who was 25-7 in 1969, struck out 11 to raise his league-leading total to 259 and his 19th complete game of the season set a club record. Cardinal rookie Jerry Reuss suffered his sixth loss against five wins.

The Montreal Expos beat the Pirates, 10-7, the Chicago Cubs routed the Philadelphia Phillies, 17-2, the Cincinnati Reds downed the San Francisco Giants, 2-0, the Atlanta Braves shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-3, and the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres, 2-1, in other NL games.

John Boccabella's three-run ninth-inning homer lifted the Expos to their victory over the Pirates despite a grand slam homer by Gene Alley which gave Pittsburgh a 6-1 lead in the sixth inning and a homer by Bob Robertson which tied the score in the ninth. Mike Marshall won his second game for the Expos while Joe Gibbon suffered the loss for the Pirates, who have dropped seven of their last eight games.

Joe Pepitone, Randy Hundley, Milt Pappas and Cleo James homered and Pepitone, Hickman, Hundley, James and Ernie Banks each drove in three runs in the Cubs' 20-hit attack off four Philadelphia pitchers. Pappas went eight innings to win his 11th game against six losses for the Cubs. Oscar Gamble homered for the Phillies.

Gary Nolan drove in two runs and went 8 2-3 innings for his 16th win for the Reds, who dealt Juan Marichal his 10th defeat against nine wins. Wayne Granger finished up for the Reds and gained credit for his 31st save.

Hal King's grand slam homer in the first inning and 47-year old Hoyt Wilhelm's six shutout innings of relief paced the Braves to their win over the Dodgers. Tom Haller hit a three-run homer for the Dodgers but Don Sutton suffered his 11th loss against 13 wins.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer and a combined four-hitter by Wade Blasingame and Fred Gladding provided the Astros with their victory over the Padres. Wynn's homer, his 24th of the season, came after a single by Cesar Cedeno in the fourth inning. Blasingame had a shutout until Ollie Brown homered in the ninth and Gladding took over to strike out Ed Spiezio after Blasingame walked Nate Colbert.

It's Center Stage For Ashe and Laver

By BOB STEWART
UPI Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Rod Laver and Mrs. Margaret Smith Court begin defense of their U.S. Open Tennis championships today while the West Side Tennis Club still buzzed over Wednesday's opening matches which marked the arrival of sudden death in a major championship.

Laver was to oppose fellow Australian, Allan Stone, while Mrs. Court faced young Pamela Austin of Rolling Hills, Calif.

The first day of the $160,000 title event saw the disappearance of three of the 20 seeded men — two by defeat, one by default. Highest ranked man to lose was sixth seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain, a straight set victim of 25-year-old Tomas Koch of Brazil. The 33-year-old Gimeno admitted to an inexplicable case of nerves while Koch had his first service under great control in taking a 6-3, 6 4, 6-3 decision.

Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 17th seed, fell to Jean Baptist Chanfreau of France 2-6, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4, 6-0.

Ilie Nastase of Romania, ranked 13th, failed to appear and was defaulted, as was his countryman Ion Tiriac.

Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., seeded seventh, highest of the Americans, makes his debut today against Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn.

Ashe and Dennis Ralston met the Russian duo of Alex Metreveli and Vladimir Kortkov Wednesday and immediately became involved in two tense sudden deaths sets, with the Americans winning the first, the Russians the second.

Darkness halted the contest, with Ashe-Ralston leading 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

In singles play Wednesday, there were 26 sets which were decided by the "sudden death" tiebreak system, under which, when a set reaches 6-all in games, a nine point game is begun, with the first player gaining five points the set winner at 7-6.

The new rule played a major role in the 1-6, 7-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory by Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif. the 11th seed, over his Davis Cup doubles partner, Bob Lutz of Los Angeles. The tie-break loss of the second set took all the vigor out of Lutz' game.

One match was decided by the rule, when Ray Ruffels of Australia defeated Jean Loup Royer of France, 6-7, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 7-6.

While player reaction to the new rule was mixed, the 10,223 fans seemed to quickly catch on to and enjoy the drama of the gimmick.

Pancho Gonzalez, the grizzled 42-year-old legend from Malibu, wants no part of sudden death, and avoided it in his opening match against Ingo Buding of Germany. Pancho took the first set 6-2 and when Buding hung on for 5-all in the second, Gonzales promptly broke through Ingo's service and then raced through his own serve for the set at 7-5. Buding, suffering from Bronchities, lost the first game of the third set, then retired.

Second seed John Newcombe, the Wimbledon king, makes his first appearance today against Joaquin Loyo Mayo of Mexico.

Mrs. Court will be seeking the fourth and final leg of the grand slam when she opens against Miss Austin. Margaret won the Australian final from Kerry Melville, the French final from Helga Niessen and Wimbledon from Billie Jean King. Billie Jean, recovering from knee surgery, is not entered.

The Hoss Delivers

By United Press International

Horace Clarke's two-run double capped a three-run seventh inning rally Wednesday and gave the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Yankees trailed 2-0 going into their half of the seventh as 21-game winner Dave McNally had held New York to three singles. With two out, Ron Woods, Ron Hasen and Gene Michael singled for the first New York run. Pinch-hitter Bobby Murcer walked to load the bases and set up Clarke's winning hit. The loss left McNally record at 21-8.

Cal Koonce pitched a three-hitter and drove in a pair of runs with his second hit of the season to give the Boston Red Sox a 10-1 victory after the Detroit Tigers won the first game, 6-4 on a pair of unearned runs in the eighth inning.

Koonce, now 3-3, gave up a solo homer to Gene Lamont in the third inning, while pitching his first complete American League game. Lamont, called from the minors to replace the injured Bill Freehan, became the 39th player to tie the record for homering in his first major league appearance.

In the opener, the Tigers combined singles by Cesar Gutierrez and Jim Northrup with George Scott's error for two unearned runs in the eighth inning.

Alex Johnson collected three singles to drive in a pair of runs and Clyde Wright recorded his 19th victory with relief help from Andy Messersmith to lead the California Angels to a 3-1 win over the Kansas City Royals.

Wright, a leading candidate for the Comeback Player of the year Award after compiling a 1-8 record in 1969, gave up 10 singles before being relieved by Messersmith.

Bert Campaneris' two-out triple to the centerfield wall in the seventh inning gave the Oakland Athletics a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Campaneris blast sent Steve Hovley to the plate with the run that broke a 1-1 deadlock. Hovley had drawn a walk from starter and loser Bart Johnson.

Frank Howard, walked intentionally three times in manager Alvin Dark's "give-up" strategy, scored two runs as the Washington Senators downed the Cleveland Indians 4-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Bosman.

The strategy proved costly the third time around when Howard's walk was followed by singles by Rick Reichardt and Aurelio Rodriguez, filling the bases, and howard scored the first run of the game on a wild pitched by Sam McDowell.

Minnesota at Milwaukee was rained out.

The Eagles Boot Baker

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sam Baker has been kicking around the National Football League since 1953. Now he's been given the boot.

The 39-year-old veteran from Nebraska, No. 2 scorer in NFL history with 977 points, was cut Wednesday by Philadelphia as the Eagles and the rest of the teams continued trimming their rosters.

The Eagles' action was more of a wholesale chop as eight players felt the axe, including running back Harry Wilson, their No. 3 draft choice in 1967 whose pro career has been hampered by injuries.

Several veterans also found new homes after being put on waivers.

Defensive tackle Jim Weatherwax of the Green Bay Packers was acquired by the St. Louis Cardinals and the Minnesota Vikings, still without No. 1 quarterback Joe Kapp, picked up Kent Nix from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran cornerback Alvin Mitchell from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice and obtained tight end Austin Denny from the Chicago Bears on waivers.

BATTING—John Bocabella, Expos, slammed a two-out, three-run homer in the ninth inning, sending Montreal to a 10-7 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

PITCHING—Cal Koonce, Red Sox, tossed a three-hitter in beating the Detroit Tigers 10-1, giving Boston a split of its day-night doubleheader. The Tigers won the opener, 6-4.

Big Cannon

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Billy Cannon, the former Louisiana State All-American who was among the first 11 players drafted by the American Football League, was the only one of that group to be active in the league last season. Cannon, a collegiate halfback, played tight end for Oakland.

Who's going to end up in the International League basement this season?

That question is to be decided tonight when Winnipeg and Toledo clash on the Mud Hens' home ground.

The Hens sent the battle of the basement into the final day of the season Wednesday by beating the Whips 9-4. Both now have 51-88 records.

In other league action Wednesday, Richmond blasted Tidewater 11-5, Rochester dumped Syracuse 6-2 and Louisville edged Columbus 7-6 in eleven innings.

Roger Freed's two-run homer in the third inning and another pair of runs in the first powered Rochester over the league champion Chiefs.

Tony Solaita hit his 19th homer for the Chiefs off winner Bill Kirkpartrick.

Richmond erupted for three runs in both the third and fourth innings and Ralph Garr, the league's leading hitter, went four for four in the Braves victory over Tidewater.

Columbus' loss to Louisville rounded out a generally active day for the Jets both on the field and in the front office.

Club president Ralph Anderson announced the Jets' Board of Directors have voted to sell the franchise to the highest bidder with the approval of the league.

Anderson cited lack of interest by the public as the main reason for the loss of the franchise. The Jets drew only 141,000 fans at home during the 1970 season.

THE WINNER: Timothy T. driven by John Simpson Jr. beats out Formal Notice (10), driven by Jimmy Arthur to win the $71,815.00 and the 1970 Hambletonian race at DuQuoin, Ill. Timothy T. won the first heat in 2:00 1/5, but lost the second heat to Formal Notice who won in 1:58 2/5. Timothy T. won the final heat in 2:00 2/5. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Timothy T Youngest Winner

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Timothy T overcame an allergy and the challenge of a new acquaintance to make John Simpson Jr., 27, the youngest harness driver ever to win the Hambletonian Trotting Stake Wednesday.

The brown colt's triumph in the Du Quoin State Fair trotting classic marked the first time the offspring of a winning Hambletonian team had duplicated the success.

Timothy T's sire, Ayres, won the 1964 Hambletonian with John Simpson's father, John Sr., in the sulky. They had an easier time of it, taking heats in a row with times of 1:56 4-5 and 1:58 1-5. Ayres' fastest time is still the race record. Timothy T had to go three heats. His winning times were were 2:00 1-5 and 2:00 3-5. Between his triumphs, little-known Formal Notice streaked to a 1:58 2-5 victory.

In the few days before the race, Timothy T, a 5-2 favorite, had been troubled with a cough. Young Simpson said the problem was diagnosed as an allergy caused by "hot hat, pollen dust, who knows?"

"He was as good today as he's ever been," John Jr. insisted after Wednesday's victory.

The senior Simpson, who owns Timothy and once trained and drove the horse, was not critical of his son's driving after the second-heat loss, and was still confident the colt could win.

Young Simpson said he had never seen Formal Notice before Wednesday's race. He was "very impressed" with the Kimberley Kid offspring in the first heat, and "had even more respect" for the 8-1 shot after the second, he said.

"We just couldn't go enough to beat the winner the third heat," driver Jimmy Arthur said of Formal Notice. "He'd never even been two heats before so he didn't figure to be too strong. . . finishing second with as little racing under his belt is a tremendous accomplishment."

Prior to the Hambletonian, Formal Notice, owned by Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N.J., had started but seven times and had one victory, one second and three thirds for total earnings of $6,682. His second place in the Hambletonian summary (5-1-2) was worth $35,907.50.

Timothy T's triumph (1-2-1) paid $71,815 from a purse of $143,630, the largest in Hambletonian history and the most in a single harness race this year.

Simpson is the youngest driver to win the Hambletonian since Harry Harvey, 29, drove helicopter to victory in 1953.

Third place Wednesday went to Flower Child and Hugh Parshall (2-5-8) and was worth $17,236.60. Speedy Spin and Frank Ervin (4-3-3) won fourth and $11,490.40. Victory Star and Vernon Dancer (3-7-6) earned fifth money, $7,181.50.

Barry to Nets

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Nets made the biggest acquisition of their brief American Basketball Association history Wednesday when they purchased Rick Barry from the Virginia Squires for an estimated $250,000 contract.

Barry, the controversial star of pro basketball, was dealt to he Nets by the Squires in a move that could bring the ABA club closer to parity with the National Basketball Association New York Knicks.

Barry's willingness to remain on the East Coast came somewhat as a surprise since the former University of Miami (Fla.) All-America has been professing a desire to return West.

A former star with the San Francisco Warriors, Barry jumped to the ABA in a celebrated case that forced him to sit out a season in order to compete the transfer. He played with the Oakland Oaks following his idle 1967-68 season and helped them to the ABA championship.

When the Oakland franchise was switched to Washington, Barry apparently had a change of heart and decided he should have stayed in San Francisco. He signed a five-year, one million dollar pact with the NBA club, but a court injunction prohibits him from making the move until after the 1971-72 season, the duration of the contract with the Oaks.

The Pittsburgh Condors reportedly turned down an offer for Barry because the 6-7 forward was only willing to negotiate in one-year terms. Roy Boe, the enterprising owner of the Nets, and Coach Lou Carnesecca, in his first active season with the New York club, decided Barry was worth the risk despite a scheduled Sept. 8 hearing on the player's current ABA-NBA situation.

RICK BARRY

The Nets are also taking a chance on Barry's left knee which has sidelined him several times over the last few seasons. There was no sign of any disability during the 1970 ABA Playoffs, however, as Barry scored 281 points, a 40.14 point average, during the Caps' seven games before elimination by Denver in the Western Division semifinals.

It turned out that Barry's scoring percentage was the highest in 1970 playoffs, topping Spencer Haywood's 36.67 point average with Denver in 12 games and the 28.53 of the champion Indiana Pacers in 157 games.

Barry was an instant success in the pros. He scored 2,059 points during his first season with San Francisco in 1965-66 and 2,775 the following season, his last with the Warriors. He holds the San Francisco season free throw percentage of .884.

He had one bad moment last season in the ABA when his left knee gave way during a game with the Carolina Cougars. Grimacing with pain, Barry said at the time: "I don't know about the future, but right now I'm so frustrated and disappointed."

Barry made a comeback and insists his leg is sturdy enough to carry him through an entire season.

The acquisition of Barry gives the Nets a tremendous push in the direction of the Eastern Division title. They have such veterans as Levern Tart, Sonny Dove and Bill Melchionni and rookies Jim Ard of Cincinnati to strengthen their intention of becoming the second New York team to win a championship in as many years.

Becker Improves

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitching coach Joe Becker of the Chicago Cubs was released from the hospital Wednesday. On Aug. 12 he was hospitalized with what Dr. Jacob Sukor diagnosed as an "irregular heart."

Decker Captures Ellenville Title

ELLENVILLE

Lt. Col. William Decker rallied to take the last three holes and edge defending champion Rivan Krieger 1-up in the 36-hole men's championship finals at Shawangunk Country Club.

Three down to Krieger's 36-37-73 in the first 18 holes, the former Army officer made his move on the fourth nine, outscoring Krieger, 36-41, to pick up the lost ground and move to the championship.

It was the first Shawangunk title for Col. Decker. Krieger was champion twice and runnerup on another occasion.

Krieger carded rounds of 36-37-73 over the par 34-34-68 Shawangunk layout, while Col. Decker had 38-37-75 and 38-36-74.

Morris Solomon defeated George Barthel, 1 up, in 19 holes to capture the Class B title 18-hole handicap competition.

The other half of the Barthel family—Mrs. George Barthel—had better luck, edging Mrs. Louis Berger, 100-101, in the 18-hole medal competition. There were eight players in the flight.

Mrs. Fred Horowitz took the women's Class B title for the third straight year, defeating Mrs. Harry Rieger in the 18-hole finals.

Clay Is Back

ATLANTA (UPI) — Cassius Clay returned to the ring Wednesday night, breezing through eight exhibition rounds to prove to heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and the boxing world that he has found a city that will let him fight.

It was Clay's first fight—although little more than a sparring session — in three years. But it marked a monumental breakthrough for the deposed heavyweight champion, rebuffed repeatedly in his bid to start a comeback.

He was a little slower and a little fatter—he weighed in at 200 pounds, 13 pounds over his fighting weight—but he had the license that had been denied him in so many other cities after he was stripped of the title for refusing to answer his draft call.

His chance came in a steaming, crowded little gym on the campus of Morehouse College, where the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. graduated.

Clay fought two rounds each with Rufus Brassell and Johnny Hudgins, and four rounds with George Hill. There were no knockdowns. Clay was bareheaded but all his opponents wore headgear.

Clay hopes to land a title fight with Frazier, perhaps on Oct. 26, but the deposed champion will probably first have to fight one of the two top contenders—Jerry Quarry or Oscar Bonevena.

"Man, it was hot out there and I got plenty tired by the eighth round," said Clay after the ehxibition. "I'm not in shape, I'm in pretty good condition, but not good enough to fight Frazier or any other of the contenders now."

"I'm 13 pounds overweight," said Clay, "but I think I can get down to 210 in six or seven weeks. My manager, Angelo Dundee, said that it was a miracle it went so well tonight. He said my condition was unbelievable. He said it was impossible for a heavyweight to get into shape in such short notice."

Clay's voice was so subdued it was hard to hear him in the locker room. There was no trace of the flamboyance of his early years—a tactic he now says was pure show, for publicity which he no longer needs.

Clay spent most of his time ducking and jabbing in the exhibition, trying out most of his weapons, including the short right hand to the head which knocked out Zora Folley in his last title fight, March 22, 1967.

Clay fought an exhibition match on June 15 of that year and hasn't been in the ring since.

Clay, who prefers to be known as Mohammad Ali, drew a capacity crowd of about 3,000. In the front row were Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., father of the slain civil rights leader, and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Wadkins 67 Paces Amateur

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, who became a weekend golfer for something to do, slid through the Waverley Country Club course as smoothly as his southern drawl for a 3-under-par 67 Wednesday and a one-stroke lead in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Wadkins, 20, a junior at Wake Forest, reeled off three birdies and never a bogey during his 34-33 round. He held a one-stroke lead over Gary Sanders, 20, of Buena Park, Calif., as the tournament moved into the second round today on the 6,496-yard course.

"My father played weekend golf and I got interested in it," the fair-haired Richmond, Va., resident said. "It was something to do besides play baseball and I just kept getting more interested in it."

Packed at 1-under-par 69s were five amateurs including Gary Cowan of Kitchenen, Ont., the 1966 champ and James Simons of Butler, Pa., like Wadkins a junior at Wake Forest.

Defending champion Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., was four strokes behind Wadkins at 71.

The field of 150 will be cut after today's round to the low 60s and ties. The tournament ends Saturday.

All Star Lassies To Play 50 Club

KINGSTON

Rosemary Pillsworth, player-manager of the girl's softball team, has gathered some of the top female talent in the area for the annual 50 Club softball game against the men. The game will be played at Block Park, 7:30 p.m., Friday. Among the featured players will be Peggy Wright, fielding star of last year's contest.

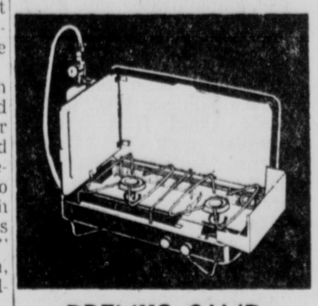

Tom Kearney, manager of the 50 Club, will not play, but has also put together a fine squad. Among those due to see action are, Fuzz Coughlin, Tony North, Bobby Gregory, Harry White, Ted Lewis, Bob Bowers, Ralph Donnelly, Dick Inge, Richard Diers, Jack Reynolds, Tibor Tomshaw, Ed Albright, Danny Sass and Johnny Smith.

Last year's game was won by the men, 12-8.

Charity Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Players from the NBA and ABA play a craity basketball game tonight at St. John's University. Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets and Spencer Haywood of the Denver Rockets are among the stars scheduled to play.

Specials Mark Final SPAC Week

Oliver and The Young Americans, Chicago, Hee Haw, The Guess Who, Bobby Sherman and Sammy Davis Jr. are the performers who will be featured on six special events programs during the final week of the 1970 season at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, located off the Adirondack Northway (Int. 87) near Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Oliver, popular concert and nightclub singer, returns to S.P.A.C. following a successful year which included a smash three-week engagement at New York's Copacabana. He opened the bill Sunday evening, Aug. 30, with "The Young Americans," a corps of some 50 singing and dancing teenagers who have performed across the U.S., on television and in the Orient and Australia.

The jazz-rock group "Chicago" was next into the 5,100-seat amphitheater with a concert Tuesday, Sept. 1 at 8:30 p.m. The seven-piece band has generated in person excitement from San Francisco's Fillmore West to London's Albert Hall, and its two-disc album "Chicago Transit Authority" has been hailed throughout the rock press.

The Guess Who, the Canadian group whose hits have included "These Eyes," "Laughing," "Undone" and "American Woman," appears at the Center Friday evening, Sept. 4 at 8:30 p.m. The following evening at 7:30 p.m. S.P.A.C. hosts Bobby Sherman, who in a little more than a year has had three gold singles and become the idol of millions of teeny-boppers and microboppers.

The dynamic Sammy Davis Jr., a star of stage, screen and television, winds up the season with a matinee performance Sunday, Sept. 6 at 3:30 p.m. Sammy's singing, dancing, imitations and humor provide a matchless two hours that leave no doubt about why he has been dubbed "the world's greatest entertainer." Motown recording star Blinky and special attraction Timmie Rogers are also featured.

Tickets for all events are on sale at the S.P.A.C. main box office on Route 50 and at Ticketron outlets in the area and throughout the East.

THE PRICE featuring top actors (l-r) Richard Kuss, Seymour Penzer, Carol Sica and Robert Baines is now on stage at the the Woodstock Playhouse. THE PRICE upholds Arthur Miller's reputation as America's leading playwright and ranks with his previous classics DEATH OF A SALESMAN and THE CRUCIBLE. This is the final production of the season at Woodstock Playhouse. It will close on September 7. The current play was directed by Joseph Leon. The set—a provocative, memory-filled attic—is designed by David L. Taylor with lighting by Ronald Wallace and costmues by Elaine Frank. THE PRICE has been translated into 14 languages.

USDA Food Buys For September

The following guide to the nation's best food buys for the pre-holiday weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

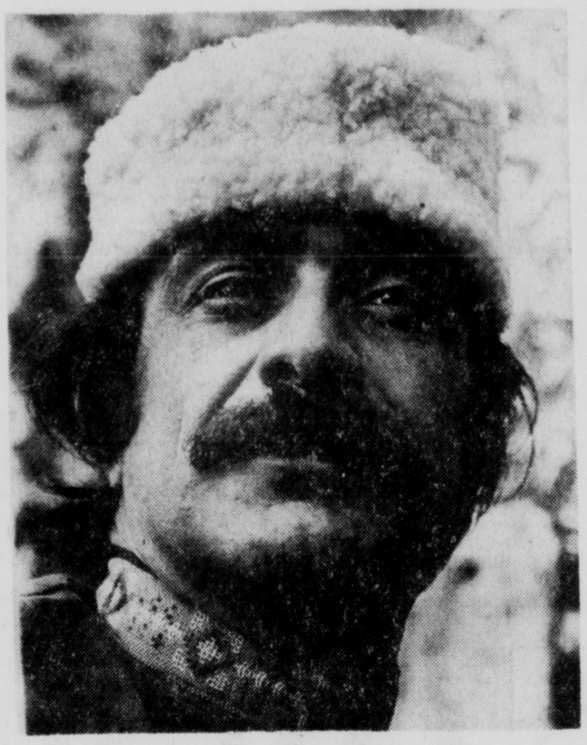

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that housewives will find a variety of meats offered. In beef, they include seveal kinds of steaks and roasts, and ground beef will also be on hand. Pork offerings will include bacon, Boston butts, chops, hams and spareribs. Broiler-fryers will be the feature at most poultry counters.

Vegetable bins will have abundant supplies of cabbage, carrots, onions, peppers, potatoes and tomatoes.

Top fruit buys will be bananas, watermelons, canned fruit cocktail, dried prunes, canned peaches and applesauce.

The Department of the Interior reports best buys in fish are canned salmon, fish sticks and portions, and canned tuna.

Foods listed on USDA's plentiful foods list for September are canned peaches, canned applesauce, split peas, and peanuts and peanut products.

RON SANDERS, who will direct his Novo Folk Dance Group in an exhibition of international dances Saturday, Sept. 5 at 2:30 p.m. on the grounds of the Episcopal Church in Woodstock. Greek, Balkan, Israeli and American folk dances will be included. International delicacies and exotic beverages will be served. There will be no charge for dancing or instruction. Public is invited to attend by the Performing Arts of Woodstock, the sponsoring group. In the evening from 5-9 p. m., PAW will hold its annual fund raising event, THE BEGGAR'S BALL. Live music will be provided by The Montgomerys. (Photo by Van Cort)

Off for France

Miss Diane VanAken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William VanAken of Hurley, will depart September 9 via KLM flight to Tours, France where she will spend her junior year of college.

Miss VanAken's first stop will be Switzerland, followed by a two week tour of France. Her final destination will be Immeuble Christophe Colomb, Tours, France.

Miss VanAken, a 1968 graduate of Kingston High School, spent her freshman and sophomore years at Oneonta State College where she majored in French. She was a dean's list student during the past semester.

Rosendale Bazaar Scheduled Sept. 5 and 6

ROSENDALE

Committee co-chairmen for the annual bazaar planned for the benefit of St. Peter's Church and school of this village, have announced that arrangements for the event to be held on the church grounds on Sept. 5 and 6 are near completion.

The co-chairmen, Peter Benincasa and Hugh Halligan, said this year's event promises to be the best in the history of St. Peter's Church.

The purpose of the bazaar is to augment the unusual increase in costs of operating the church and school in view of the overhead this year that resulted from the parish's council to continue the elementary grades in the school for the coming year.

It was noted that the parish debt at present is in the $300,000 class. That amount is the balance of the cost of the new school and convent for the nuns who teach in the school with the assistance of lay teachers.

The enrollment at St. Peter's school will be more than 350 pupils this year which adds to the burden upon members of the parish, an offcial said.

The co-chairmen and their assistants request that all donations for the home article booth should include crocheted, embroidered and knitted goods and stuffed dolls and animals and similar items. These should be turned in early in time to arrange them for the two-day event.

A feature of the bazaar will be a food and bake sale on the church grounds to be held Sept. 5 beginning at 10 a.m. The special awards will be made Sunday night, Sept. 6. The committee also reports that awards will be announced at 9:30 and 11 p.m. each day of the bazaar. Other awards also are planned.

First Aid Unit Announces Class

MARBLETOWN

Marbletown First Aid Unit and Auxiliary announced this week that a medical emergency technician course will start at Ulster County Community College Sept. 21.

The class is open to anyone 18 years or over and holding a current Red Cross advanced card. If interested and in need of an advanced card or a refresher course, the Marbletown Unit may be contacted. Harriet Weber may be contacted and she will set up an advanced course.

Prospective members to the First Aid Unit are welcome to attend drill sessions the first Thursday of each month or the business meetings the third Thursday.

PACKING FOR SCHOOL—Don Alford, 17, of suburban Wilmette, near Chicago, demonstrates how to pack your 14-ft. python for school. First (L) you disentangle it from your body. Then you stuff it into your suitcase. Actually Don's snake "Tickles" has a special box for traveling. Don couldn't bear the thought of leaving his pet behind when he enters the University of New Mexico this fall, so he's taking Tickles with him. Don has permission to let Tickles take up residence in the university's biology laboratory. Don has studied reptiles since he was 12 years years old and has had some 2,000 different reptiles living in his basement. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Synagogue News

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Friday evening. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn. Visitors may attend.

During the services, the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Amelia Elting, Henry Bernstein, Alfred S. Kahn, Molly Kantrowitz.

Following services, an Oneg Shabbat will be held in the Rabbi Bloom Memorial Hall.

Congregants interested in registering their children in the Temple Religious School or persons interested in becoming members of the congregation are asked to contact Rabbi Eichhorn or Albert Spiegel, chairman of the membership committee.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services will be held this week at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, at 100 Lucas Avenue, Friday 8 p.m., Saturday 9:30 a.m., and for all request services.

This Friday evening the services will be conducted by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, and the liturgy will be chanted by former Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yuhrtzeiten will be observed during the coming week: Chaye E. Brossman, Philip Brummel, Abraham Dubin, Benjamin Landsman, Abraham Meyer Wilner, and Hilda Wilpan. An Oneg Shabbat will be held after the services.

A meeting of the parents of the children of the Talmud Torah of Kingston will be held Thursday night, Sept. 3, to discuss a new plan of schedule and curriculum for the school. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of Ahavath Israel at 8 p.m. Following the meeting, the Talmud Torah Board will meet to implement the new plan.

Registration for the Talmud Torah will be held for all new pupils on Sunday, Sept. 13, at 10 a.m. All former pupils will register in their classes which will begin on Monday, Sept. 14.

All Jewish people in the community who wish to join a Conservative Congregation before the coming High Holy Days, may call Ahavath Israel.

Open House On Holiday at Red Hook Park

RED HOOK

The Red Hook Recreational Park will conduct its second annual Labor Day Open House, Monday., Sept. 7. More than 500 attended the 1969 program.

This year's plan calls for an awards ceremony to present swimming badges and life saving certificates, five competitive swimming events, and a clown diving exhibition act.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. with presentation of about 100 badges to youngsters who have successfully passed the Red Cross achievement tests. Ronald E. Black, pool director, will present the awards.

At about 2:30 p.m. the following swimming events will be held: 50-yard freestyle for fathers; 10-yard freestyle for "splashers" 6 and under; 25-yard freestyle for mothers; underwater endurance contest, open; and 100-yard ping pong relay, open. Rec Park ribbons will be given to first, second and third place finishers. Gerry Klem, an experienced Kingston diver, will entertain with clown diving exhibitions about 3:15 p.m. He has performed in pools throughout New York State.

The pool will be open free to school district residents from 12:30 until 11 p.m., weather permitting.

The newly constructed bathhouse will be partially open for inspection and use on Labor Day. The toilet facilities will replace the two portable chemical units that have served since the 1969 pool opening.

Driver Cited After Mishap

KINGSTON

A two-car mishap on Wurts Street at the intersection of Spring Street on Wednesday resulted in a citation for one driver accused of leaving the scene of an accident.

Police reports noted the cars were driven by Peter Carroll Sr., 55, of 106 North Front Street, and Andrew C. Hertel, 25, of Highland. Carroll was charged with vehicle and traffic violation, which was referred to City Court.

According to investigators, Hertel, driving a vehicle owned by Hertel Enterprises, Inc., of Highland, was southbound on Wurts Street when the Carroll car pulled out of Spring Street and made a right turn as the vehicles collided.

IT'S CAR BUYERS SAVINGS TIME!

This is the time of year to turn back the cost of cars! It's our annual clean-up time . . . the time of the year when you really are in the driver's seat. We have to sell the remaining 70s and we also have all the cars we've taken in trade on 70s piling up on our lot. We've priced these cars for quick sale. Want to save big on a new or like-new car? Now is the time and Garrison Foreign Cars is the place!

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee... It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we-pay-half-you-pay-half deals."

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.

We also guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevys, Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens.)

So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

Parents Get K.P. Duty

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter, Caroline, has started going with a guy named Angelo. He never takes her any place. He just comes over every night to watch television and wear out our sofa.

When Angelo comes over, the wife and I have to sit in the kitchen so he and Caroline can have their privacy in the living room. I suppose we could go in our bedroom, but who wants to go to bed at 7 o'clock?

So, every night lately the wife and I sit in the kitchen like a couple of cockroaches trying to watch television on a dinky little portable.

The wife is so happy that Caroline finally has a boy friend she doesn't say a word. I am getting tired of this setup. What should I do?

KITCHEN SITTER

DEAR SITTER: Send me a picture of Caroline and I'll tell you what to do.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, Ellen, who is now 7. Since we aren't able to have any more we have decided to adopt a child, but here is our problem. We want a little girl Ellen's age not so much for ourselves but for Ellen. She is a shy child and has never made friends easily. Being an only child, she's inclined to be a little spoiled and, therefore, not easy to get along with. We feel that if Ellen had a sister her age it would relieve her loneliness and give her someone to keep her company.

We've spoken to several adoption agencies and they haven't been very encouraging. They seem to think we should adopt a younger child, and possibly a boy. But Abby, what kind of a companion would that be for our lonely little daughter? Also, isn't it true that when a boy baby comes into a home, the older child become jealous and resentful?

Can you give us some advice?

ELLEN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You appear to be more concerned with the needs of your own child than with the needs of an adopted child. To foist a "twin" on Ellen in order to provide her with a companion and relieve her loneliness could be a sad mistake for all. Why not take a foster child for a while and see how it works out? Or perhaps the Lord in His infinite wisdom intended for you to have only one?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My gripe is my landlady. She had a key to my apartment, saying she needed it in case of an emergency.

I know for a fact that this landlady has gone into my apartment and looked thru my drawers, closets and my desk.

I asked a friend of mine who is a private detective if my landlady had the right to go into my apartment without my permission, and he said absolutely not! He also said if I suspected that mine did, I had the right to change the lock on my door and refuse to give her the key. Well this is exactly what I did. And I told her that in case of an emergency she could break the door down with an ax and I would pay for a new one. Needless to say, no emergency ever came up and I've been living there for two years. Of course when she sees me, she turns her head, but I like it better that way.

KNOWS MY RIGHTS

DEAR KNOWS: "Rights" differ in different buildings, cities and even states. It's amazing how few landlords know their rights. And even fewer tenants know theirs.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HURT: (Q.) My boyfriend and I did everything together—everything but the last thing, I should say. Last week we were on the verge of doing that, too. But right at the last minute I said no, that we should wait till we were married.

He said OK. But he also said I was crazy for being the way I am. I haven't seen much of him since that. Do you think he is giving me the brushoff?

I love him so much, I hurt so much—Lonely in Fort Worth

(A.) You are hurt, I know, but not nearly so much as you could have been. Your boy friend seems to be hunting just one thing. If he doesn't find it one place he'll look for it another. Let him look.

TIRED "TWIN": (Q.) My best friend and I look a lot alike. For a while we wore our clothes alike, but I got tired of that and told her let's stop.

She said she would, but when I bought new sunglasses she got a pair just like them. Now people make fun of us. I don't want to be her "twin" any longer. But I don't want to hurt her.

How can I get her to drop it?—Look-Alike in New Jersey.

(A.) "Twinning Up" with a girl friend can get very sticky. You are right to want to stop it.

It looks, though, as if you will just have to be blunt and honest and to the point.

Tell her now, as gently as you can, no more "twin" glasses, no more "twin" dresses, no more "twin" hairdos, no more "twin" anything.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can weigh, analyze and balance the various factors involved in any course of action facing you and come up with the right answers—then you can state them to others in a subtle manner that gains their bacing very easily. Become involved in any artistic project about you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to plan the future more wisely and in detail with associates. Many things develop that show your true position with others. Relatives can be pleasant in the evening. Be cooperative.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing tasks that bring the goodwill of co-workers will make a rosy future. Shop around for items needed to complement your wardrobe. Pay more attention to health.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use creative skills to improve both career and social life. Improve relations. An unexpected gift to loved one can put sparkle in her eyes. Extravagance is not necessary, but the right thought is.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) It is easy for you to add to the charm of your home now—others will respond with improved dispositions. Handle basic matters wisely during the day. Then enjoy an ideal evening at home.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go along with plan proposed by partners which will improve routines such as correspondence, handling orders, and similar matters. Have a productive day. Then out for fun with friends in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Consider ways to improving your holdings and property for smoother operation. Wise management of money makes it go further. Evening is not good for gadding about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) An excellent day for pursuing personal aims successfully. You will receive worthwhile invitations and should accept them. Be outgoing and joyous. Make others happy.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to consider a puzzling matter in a more gentle and quiet fashion than heretofore and work out a solution. Evening favors dinner at a fine restaurant and a visit to a nightclub.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be more understanding of good friends. Find out what they expect of you and cooperate. Decide which friends you want in your life in the future and contact some of them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can make better headway at handling government and other important duties. Plan travel, go after passport, or purchase luggage today. Do not waste a moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can be greatly helped by communicating with those who can give you needed data or ideas. Good for making new contacts with interesting people. You can be a good conversationalist.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar 20) Your intuition is accurate now and will lead you to success if you heed it. Be active, positive. Try not to disappoint loved one who expects much of you. Be precise in your work.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those fascinating young people who will take much interest in others, their ideas and views, but will need early guidance against doing just as others say because of a desire to be agreeable and polite. There is much artistic ability, patience for detail, and ease in cooperating with others. Working on big projects will be simple. Give the right amount of spiritual and ethical training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Cynthia Lowry

Renewal for ABC Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Children of all ages obviously were charmed by a ABC midseason replacement last year called 'The Nanny and the Professor," which seems to be a mix of standard situation comedy, Mary Poppins and James M. Barrie whimsy.

A large segment of the early evening audiences loved it and it won renewal for a full season. Among other things, it has introduced another member of the illustrious acting and writing British Mills family to American audiences.

Juliet Mills, daughter of actor John Mills and playwright Mary Hayley Bell and sister of actress Hayley Mills, has had lots of British stage and film experience. After making two pilots for 'Nanny' over two years she had forgotten about television and was busy on the London stage when the summons came. The series had been sold, and four days later, Juliet was in Hollywood working on it.

She plays a key creature named Phoebe Figalilly who mysteriously turned up at the home of a widowed professor and his unruly children just when he needed help most desperately. She has strange powers of prediction and understanding of children and animals.

"I suppose she has psychic powers," said Miss Mills as she rested between shots and the shaggy dog who plays Waldo slept at her feet "But there is nothing about her ESP that can not be explained logically or by coincidence. Besides, I think it's nice for people to believe in a bit of magic—I do myself."

The Mills family is close knit. This season Juliet installed with her 6-year-old son in a rented Hollywood home, hopes to have them with her for their Christmas reunion. Meanwhile, her father will appear in an episode of the series and her mother will write at least one show, maybe more.

"I find the character delightful and I like working the series," she said. "I think I could be very happy with it for six months each year for three or four years."

The show business weekly Variety reports that Tony Franciosa and NBC's 'The Name of the Game" have split. The actor, one of the three male stars who rotate as leads in the series, has on several occasions been unhappy about his part. Recently Universal Studio replaced him in an episode when he balked at the story.

Because of the break-away format of the series, replacement probably will be simply a matter of hiring another actor to play a playboy reporter for a magazine.

Bridge

Z Slams Contract Out of the Park

By Oswald & James Jacoby

After his first two sessions at contract bridge old man Z who used to play all the dummies in the auction bridge columns had learned something about contract bidding. Not much but he at least had found the Blackwood convention. He had also won two straight duplicates by brilliant dummy play and the boys decided to run in a trick hand on him.

Z had learned about Blackwood and used or abused it every time he held a good hand so that his four and five no-trump followed by seven spades were just about automatic for him.

Looking at all four hands you can see that the contract will make if declarer tries the heart finesse or if he finesses clubs against West and ruffs out the king. Looking at just the North and South hands you can also see that the best percentage play is to play two rounds of trumps. They divide evenly whereupon South should lay down the ace and king of hearts to see if the queen will drop. When it doesn't drop South should lead the jack of clubs to dummy's ace and return the queen for a ruffing finesse. Since West holds the king of clubs this percentage play leaves South down two tricks.

Z studied the hand for awhile and remarked, "Someone seems to have run one in on the old man. I played this at one spade in auction and was careful to make sure of 12 tricks and did make 13 when the heart finesse worked. I'll play this one the same way."

He drew trumps, cashed one heart, tried the heart finesse and made the grand slam.

34 Are Reported Dead From Manila Floods

MANILA (UPI) — The worst flood waters to hit the Philippine capital gradually receded today, leaving 34 dead, thousands homeless and the danger a fire could spread.

With 22 inches of rain reported, an area the size of Florida was affected. Manila itself was hardest hit with four or five feet of water in many areas of the city. President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared a "State of calamity and emergency" and mobilized a major relief program.

A fire broke out today in a seven-story building across the street from the U.S. Embassy in the city's "tourist belt" and firemen who brought their trucks through four-foot deep water to fight the blaze warned it could spread to neighboring buildings.

Among the 34 confirmed deaths were two U.S. sailors. They were killed by landslides at the Cubi Point Naval Station about 90 miles northwest of Manila. The Navy said the bodies were recovered but names were withheld until relatives could be notified.

Most of the deaths were reported from drownings, but three persons were electrocuted and at least nine were buried in landslides —including the two Americans. Many other persons were reported missing.

Public Works Secretary Manuel Syquio said he had no overall estimate of damage but it was expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Jet Explosion Kills Three Americans

SAIGON (UPI) —A Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber caught fire and exploded as it was being refueled Wednesday night at Da Nang Air Base, the U.S. Command said today. Three Americans were killed and 14 injured.

On the battlefronts, two U.S. soldiers were killed and nine wounded Wednesday in a clash between a unit of the U.S. 11th Brigade of the Americal Division and Viet Cong near Quang Ngai City on the northern coast.

Three battalions of Cambodian troops including mercenaries trained in South Vietnam today recaptured the village of Sprang whose fall on Sunday had opened a new Communist threat toward the capital.

"We are great! We are great! We are great!" said Battalion Commander Danh Croch, visibly delighted over the victory.

Sprang is 26 miles south of Phnom Penh and was captured Sunday by the Viet Cong who held it during bitter fighting for three days.

Croch said the final assault was made by three battalions (about 1,200 men) of Khmer of Kampuchea Krom, Cambodians who were trained and paid by the American forces in South Vietnam.

U.S. military spokesmen said the explosion at Da Nang destroyed the $2 million Phantom jet. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said air and artillery strikes continued against Viet Cong who held Srang, 26 miles south of the capital. Cambodian troops were dug in 1½ miles from the town, which fell to the Viet Cong Sunday after a three-day battle.

A Cambodian high command spokesman said the occupation of Srang by the Communists "could continue for a month without affecting the defense of Phnom Penh." But he said he hoped the fighting would be over shortly.

The spokesman said Cambodian troops were under harassment from what he called a Communist "division command post." Cambodian air and artillery were shelling Viet Cong around the town and in a Buddhist pagoda on a mountain overlooking Srang.

"We have enough trooos," the spokesman said. "We have 100,000 now. But, of course, not enough arms."

In other military action, Cambodian troops on clearing operations in Siem Reap Province near the 9th century ruins of Angkor Wat clashed with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units.

The Cambodians suffered one killed and five wounded in the fighting with Communist casualties unknown.

In Phnom Penh, university students, civil servants and high school students demonstrated on behalf of Cambodian neutrality and independence. Informed sources said the demonstrations would last for days and end with Premier Lon Nol declaring the nation a republic.

N. Viet Negotiator at Talks

PARIS (UPI) —North Vietnam's chief negotiator to the Paris talks returned to the conference table today for the first time in nine months. He pledged to "listen carefully" to see if the Americans offered "anything new."

It was the first meeting between Hanoi's Xuan Thuy and Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, President Nixon's newly named chief negotiator.

Thuy, North Vietnam's grey-haired minister of state said before entering the old Hotel Majestic "We came here today to attend this session with the same serious attitude and goodwill. I am ready to listen carefully to what will be said by the new American delegation chief to see whether there is anything new in it."

Bruce made no statement as he entered the conference.

The meeting was held on the first anniversary of the death of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

The South Vietnamese envoy, Pham Dang Lam, opened today's session by accusing the two Communist delegations of refusing to negotiate seriously in Paris.

Lam urged the Communists to accept Saigon's offer of holding free elections in which the Viet Cong would be allowed to participate and which would be controlled by an impartial international commission.

NASA Must Make Readjustments As Two Moon Missions Are Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision to eliminate two Apollo moon missions confronted the National Aeronautics and Space Administration with a series of readjustments today. Four lunar flights remain.

First, NASA will mothball a couple of giant Saturn 5 moon rockets.

These launch vehicles, costing $185 million each, will become a part of "a national resource of heavy lift rocket capability," NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine told a news conference Wednesday.

Secondly, some mighty disappointed astronauts—including six who would have taken a moon flight on the Apollo 15 and 19 missions, now cancelled for budgetary reason—will have to be reassigned.

"The astronauts have been very unhappy, along with the scientific community, about the reductions in flights over the past several years," said Dale Myers, associate administrator for manned space flight.

"Many of these men have dedicated themselves to development of the space shuttle."

There are 49 on the astronaut rolls. The U.S. has launched 26 of its astronauts on space trips, some two or three times, and one, James Lovell, four times.

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden, Jr., and James B. Irwin had been assigned to Apollo 15, the mission now cancelled.

NASA also must now revise its list of moon landing sites.

"We still need to get to the lunar highlands, the rill areas, and we still must get a wide variety geologically to make sure of our passive seismic network," said Dr. John W. Findlay, chairman of the Lunar and Planetary Mission Board.

Instead of the Apollo 15 spacecraft with its limited lunar stay and lunar orbit capability, an advanced version including a lunar rover vehicle will be used, and thus another Apollo 15 site must be selected, Findlay said.

Paine said NASA intends to do everything possible to include a scientist astronaut on at least one mission.

Myers said there are no plans to reduce the size of the astronaut team.

He said NASA is running some "master facilities" studies to determine suitable locations for space shuttle work.

The space shuttle will be a vehicle that takes off rocket-like but returns to earth like an airplane. A part of the shuttle will separate from the launching craft, in orbit, to carry astronaut crews to and from the three-man orbiting Skylabs.

The Apollo cutback will have a special effect on Cape Kennedy, Fla. NASA said manpower at Kennedy Space Center will drop from the 15,500 level in 1973 when the Skylab program is due to end.

Myers said the agency will attempt to use Kennedy personnei to develop and support future programs.

After Skylab, no more manned flights are scheduled from the Cape. The earliest possible launch date for the space shuttle is 1976.

SMITH HARDWARE

Why wait until Spring?
Fall is the naturally right time to improve your lawn!
The few weeks of late summer and early fall are by far the best opportunity to upgrade your lawn. Days are growing shorter. Dews are heavier. The soil is warm, and nights are growing cooler. It's the one time of year when Mother Nature has all the odds stacked in your favor — the naturally right time to make real lawn progress.

Turf Builder is the fertilizer that helps grass multiply itself. Turn thin browned out lawns into thicker, greener turf. Use it any time, any weather. Will not burn grass or harm grass seed. Clean. Lightweight. Easy to handle. How about this weekend?
